RUSSIA FINALLY AGREES TO FOREIGN MINISTERS' CONFERENCE ON GERMANY

By RONALD THOMPSON

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union renewed today its call for summit talks on Berlin and Germany, but said it will take part in a foreign ministers' conference if the West is not yet ready for a meeting of heads of state.

The U.S.S.R. suggested either the heads of state or the foreign ministers should meet next month in Vienna or Geneva, agreeing in advance to complete their work in two or three months.

In addition to the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and France, Moscow said, Poland, Czechoslovakia and East and West Germany should participate.

The Soviet position was set forth in notes delivered just before Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain conferred in the Kremlin with Premier Khrushchev. They talked for nearly two hours.

Washington Plans Serious Consideration

(Editor's Note—The following interpretive was written by John M. Hightower on receipt of reports that the Soviet Union has accepted the Western proposal for a foreign ministers meeting. The interpretive is based on Hightower's recent discussions with State Department officials and other Washington authorities.)

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union's reported proposal for a summit conference to follow a meeting of foreign ministers seems assured of serious consideration by the United States and its Western allies.

Top officials here have foreseen for some weeks the probability of a summit session this year.

The White House maintained silence on Russia's note.

Press secretary James C. Hagerty said a translation had not been received in Washington and therefore, there will be no comment at this time.

The reported Soviet formula kept open the possibility that negotiations between the U.S.S.R. and the Western powers can be employed to avert or delay a war-threatening showdown over Berlin.

Youths Rescued From Precarious Perch on Cliff

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP)—Two high school youths—scared, chilled, but uninjured—were hoisted to safety Sunday night from a precarious perch midway up a sheer, 325-foot cliff.

Wearing light cotton shirts and no jackets, they had been trapped six hours by crumbling rock. Icy winds whipped down the Lewis River canyon as they clung desperately to the cliff.

Seven men from the Mountain Safety & Rescue Council of Oregon came from Portland, Ore., 50 miles southwest of the area, to rescue them.

Clark County sheriff's deputies identified the two as Charles Haas, 17, and Darrell Jones, 18, both of Vancouver. After the rescue, the boys warmed themselves at a bonfire and drove home in their own car.

They said they started to climb the cliff, man-made during the construction of Pacific Power & Light Co.'s Yale power house and dam.

Congressmen Giving Much Thought to Berlin Crisis

By JOE F. KANE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress members spent a busy week-end giving opinions on the Berlin situation. The individual suggestions ranged from advice to take it easy on the diplomatic quarter-backing to a call for mobilization of additional troops.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, cautioned his colleagues against forcing President Eisenhower into a negotiating straitjacket.

Fulbright's reminder that the President has the basic responsibility for foreign policy was similar to that sounded earlier by Sen.

Today's note to the United States repeated earlier Soviet warnings that Western use of weapons to maintain the present status of West Berlin would lead to war.

Moscow has threatened to turn its own occupation functions over to Communist East Germany on May 27 unless agreement is reached with the Western Big Three. The Western Allies fear the Communist East Germany would then try to cut off West Berlin from the non-Communist world.

The Soviet note replied to a Western proposal for a foreign ministers conference on Germany. Soviet insistence on a summit conference had been expected ever since the West made its proposal. Khrushchev in his speech last Tuesday made clear he did not think a foreign ministers conference on Germany would serve any useful purpose, and that the issue of West Berlin must be discussed by the heads of government.

The Foreign Ministry told the ambassadors it would publish the note Tuesday.

The U.S. government has been the chief opponent of a summit conference. The American position is that unless the foreign ministers work out an agreement beforehand, a summit meeting will unduly raise public hopes but will come to nothing.

But Prime Minister Macmillan was reported determined, in his visits later this month to President Eisenhower and French President Charles de Gaulle, to insist that a parley with Khrushchev himself was the only way that might lift the Soviet threat to Berlin.

The Soviets had originally proposed, on Jan. 10, that a 28-nation conference be held to conclude separate peace treaties with West and East Germany as part of the Soviet plan to end the Allied occupation of West Berlin.

The West on Feb. 16 rejected the peace conference proposal and suggested instead a foreign ministers meeting to discuss the whole issue of German reunification. The West also restated its determination not to be driven out of Berlin.

Bob Hope Suffers From Blood Clot on Right Eye

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"From now on," says Bob Hope, "I'm doing whatever the doctor tells me. I've got too many places to see."

Eye trouble threatens to come between Hope and the places he wants to see. He will fly to New York by jet liner today to see a Columbia University specialist about the ailment.

The comedian suffered a blood clot in his left eye during a Christmas holiday trip to Europe to entertain U.S. servicemen. He says vision in the eye is now going fuzzy.

Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.), Senate Republican leader.

Fulbright said no football team can expect to win a game with every man his own quarterback.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Senate majority leader, said the nation would stand united behind the President in the Berlin crisis. The world expects to hear "something more than partisan pride" from Washington, he told a week-end meeting of Democrats.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) called for mobilization of four or five Army and National Guard divisions. He said such a move would be "a diplomatic signal to the Soviet Union that we mean business."

Relax After Luncheon

LONDON (AP)—British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told Soviet television viewers tonight Britain and the U.S.S.R. "should each avoid acts which disturb the existing position anywhere in the world to the other's disadvantage."

Macmillan said in a prepared Moscow speech released here by the Foreign Office: "For such acts must, to use your own Prime Minister's words, produce dangerous situations."

Macmillan declared improved relations between the countries can be achieved "if we can make a start and go forward step by step."

"Agreement on one thing, he added, 'leads to agreement on another. It's the first step that counts. That's why I'm here.'"

Macmillan said he thought it would help if there were "thousands of visits to each other's countries by ordinary people."

Ocean Telephone System Reported Back to Normal

NEW YORK (AP)—The transatlantic telephone system of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. was back in normal operation today, after the repair of a cable break that created an international incident.

The company announced completion of the repair Sunday.

The cable system links the telephone networks of the United States and Canada with those of Britain and eight European countries.

The cable was broken Feb. 21. A boarding party from the United States Navy radar picket ship Roy O. Hale searched the Soviet trawler Novorossisk for 70 minutes Thursday in an effort to find if the ship had cut the cable.

Lt. Donald Sheely said he found no firm evidence of any intention to cut the cable, and believed the most probable explanation is that the trawler cut it accidentally.

The Soviet Union called the boarding "premeditated provocation."

The break was 1,000 feet under the Atlantic, about 190 miles east of Newfoundland.

FATALITY INJURED
UNIONTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Injuries suffered in an auto crash Feb. 27 caused the death Sunday of Mrs. Mary Secondini, 60, of Box 123 Grindstone, Fayette County.

Mrs. Secondini's car hit a bridge abutment and careened over an embankment into a creek near Hibbs, Fayette County.

Coast Guard Probing Crash Off New York

NEW YORK (AP)—Coast Guard investigators today were trying to find the cause of a collision between the American Export luxury liner Constitution and the Norwegian oil tanker Jalanta.

The bow of the tanker was sheared off but remained afloat.

The liner received a gash in her bow about 8 feet above the water line, 40 feet long and 15 feet wide.

Both ships made port without help after the collision Sunday outside New York harbor.

The accident occurred in a dense fog, shortly before 11 a.m., at a crossing of the sea lanes five miles southeast of Ambrose Light.

Buses Rolling Again In City of New Castle

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP)—Buses rolled in this Lawrence County community today for the first time in six months.

Residents greeted the service beyond the expectation of the Public Transportation Authority.

New Castle has been without bus service since drivers for the Shenango Valley Transportation Co. struck last August.

The Public Transportation Authority purchased the equipment from the transportation firm for $137,000.

The first bus left the authority's garage at 4:55 a. m. Nine others departed on a staggered schedule.

Pittsburgh Police Seek Missing Club Performer

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Police sought today to locate a 22-year-old showgirl, Molly Ardrey, who disappeared from a motel near a suburban night club where she was performing.

Molly and her sister, Sally, made up a sister song and dance team. Sally said she awakened Sunday to find her sister missing.

A taxicab driver told police he picked up a girl answering Molly's description and took her to a midtown hotel.

DISCOVERER BELIEVED TO BE IN ORBIT

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force believes its Discoverer I rocket may have gone into some kind of orbit—and is simply having trouble raising its voice enough to let the world know for sure.

Authorities say tracking stations have picked up "sporadic signals" tending "to confirm that an orbit has been attained." Further checks will be made, they say, to try to pin down the uncommunicative rocket.

Discoverer I, the first pace vehicle aimed into an orbit which would carry it over both the North and South poles, was launched Saturday from Vandenberg Air Force Base, 170 miles north of Los Angeles.

A Navy ship 900 miles south of the base received faint signals from the bullet-shaped missile shortly after it was fired. Then, for hours, there was nothing. Officials speculated something may have gone wrong with the radio equipment in the 1,300-pound projectile.

Sunday night the Air Force Ballistic Missile Division reported: "Additional study of data received for a nine-minute period after lift-off supports the accuracy of preliminary information about launch trajectory and orbit injection. Tracking stations have since picked up random signals on the frequency of the Discoverer's radio beacon, which approximates the predicted position of the satellite."

Of the random signals received so far, authorities said, the most reliable were picked up by tracking stations at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., Annette, Alaska, and Vandenberg.

The Air Force said the information at hand suggests Discoverer may be circling the earth about once every 96 minutes. It said the preliminary data indicate the rocket is about 146 miles from the earth at the point of its closest approach and 558 miles away at the farthest point.

Authorities Still Seek One of Two Kidnaped Babies

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two Southern California mothers had reason to cry today.

The son of each was kidnaped. The tears of Mrs. Wayne Murray, of Venice, were joyful. Her boy, Wayne Jr., 7, was rescued by officers from a former mental patient.

But the second mother, Ruth Flores, collapsed in a "hysterical condition" from anxiety and weariness. Her infant son, kidnaped early Saturday, is still missing.

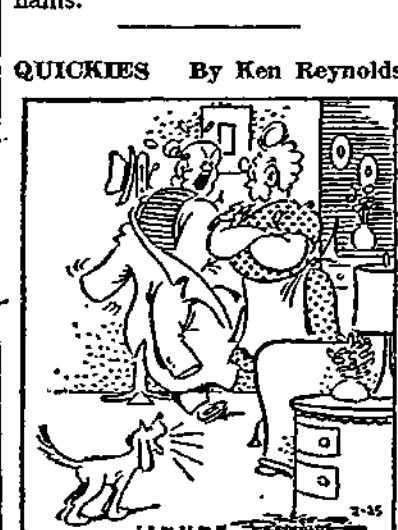

Police in Bishop, Calif., acting on a tip from a Los Angeles bus ticket seller, found young Wayne Murray in a cheap hotel room with William Harris Elwell, Elwell, 28, was held for Venice police on a kidnaping charge.

Mrs. Murray had been under sedatives to relieve hysteria since her son was missed Saturday. She is expecting another child.

Meanwhile, hundreds of police and sheriff's officers pressed a search for the twin tot of the widowed Mrs. Flores, 35, of Ontario.

The baby, Eric Leon Flores, eight weeks old, has been missing since early Saturday when he and Mrs. Flores' other five children were left with a babysitter known to Mrs. Flores only as Ann Williams.

Runaway Girl Reports Seeing Policeman Slain

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—West Virginia police questioned here today a teen-age runaway girl who said she saw her young male companion shoot a police chief to death and then tried to kill her when they quarreled.

Frederick Police Chief Charles Main said 16-year-old Nancy Jean Sedlock of Erie, Mich., walked into the police station Sunday and related the story of the slaying in West Virginia and the attempt to shoot her.

Main said the girl told him her companion, identified as Douglas Parker, 19, shot and killed Police Chief Amos Morris, 49, of Mannington, W.Va., Saturday morning near Fairmont, W.Va. Parker was believed to be from Lynchburg, Va.

She said she escaped from the youth when he tried to shoot her as they argued in a car in the Frederick suburbs Saturday night. Parker fled in a car bearing West Virginia license plates and is still sought. West Virginia police had described him as being armed and dangerous.

Main said he was told that Chief Morris had taken the girl and Parker into custody in or around Fairmont, with the intention of having her returned to her Michigan home.

Main said the girl claimed that when they got outside of Fairmont, about 10 miles from Mannington, Morris was shot five times.

Discontent Slows Down Car Ticketing

DETROIT (AP)—Police Commissioner Herbert W. Hart today blamed discontent for a slowdown by police ticketing cars lacking new license plates.

One factor, he said, was objection to integration orders planning to put white and Negro officers in the same car.

Police issued only 60 tickets Sunday to motorists who failed to have new car plates after the Saturday midnight deadline. The normal number of tickets for the first day after expiration is 800.

The commissioner said any policeman found to have neglected his duty in issuing tickets will be suspended.

The Detroit News quoted one patrolman, who asked that his name not be used, as saying, "Integration is the big beef."

Other patrolmen complained of low pay.

FEW SURPRISES IN 500-WORD MESSAGE SUBMITTED BY GOV. LAWRENCE TODAY

By LEONARD A. UNGER

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence today handed the Legislature a self-styled "hard-headed" budget of $1,907,012,354 for the Commonwealth in 1959-61 and proposed 400 millions in new taxes to balance it.

As expected, the figure is a record high. But Lawrence made it plain that any reductions by the politically divided General Assembly would mean a cutback in state services.

There were few surprises in his 5,000-word message and the massive 1 1/4-pound budget document itself.

He asked quick acceptance of the entire fiscal program recommended by his bipartisan tax advisory committee. It featured increasing the 3 per cent sales tax to 3 1/2 per cent.

The other proposed levies range from reviving the cent-a-bottle soft drinks impost and imposing a four-mill personal property tax to expanding the sales tax to include across-the-bar drinks, cigars, pipe and chewing tobacco, trade-ins and telephone and electric bills. "It would seem to me that any attempt to pick and choose between these taxes—to break the package—might easily prove fatal," he said. "A predictable result might well be endless legislative disagreement which we cannot afford."

In the first half of former Gov. Leader's administration, the Legislature met in a 16 1/2 (Turn to Page Ten)

Highlights of Proposals

HARRISBURG (AP)—Highlights of Gov. Lawrence's budget message to the General Assembly:

"To make it very plain, I have no rabbits in my hat; no magician's trick which will make it possible to pay for increasing costs without increasing taxes."

"I may say that at times it has taken hard-headed determination to hold the budget requests to the level of this document."

"It may well be argued that this budget does not do enough for public education, for our state-aided universities and colleges, for our economic and community development programs, for mental health, for improved standards of public assistance, for many other good and necessary public services."

"But a budget, like every phase of government, must find its being in the art of the possible. 1

Delay Would Cost $367,000 Every Day in Lost Revenues

HARRISBURG (AP)—Here's an at-a-glance rundown of Gov. Lawrence's budget:

Total, a record-high $1,907,012,354, for the Commonwealth's two-year fiscal period starting June 1. Governor called it a "hard-headed" figure.

Four hundred million dollars in new taxes needed to balance. Governor recommended acceptance of his bipartisan tax advisory committee report which is highlighted by a recommendation to increase 3 per cent sales tax to 3 1/2 per cent.

Quick action is urged. Governor says tax program should be enacted by April 1. Delay after that will cost the Commonwealth $367,000 a day in lost tax revenues.

Biggest item requiring new taxes is $177,678,874 deficit.

Increase state police force from 1,900 to 2,100 to patrol increased state highway mileage. State police subsidize allowance would be increased from $2.75 a day per man to $3.75.

Request is made to give persons on relief a $2 a day increase in food allowance.

Ten million dollars recommended for industrial development loans.

Earmarking of sales tax for education is urged.

Any major budget cuts, says Lawrence, would mean reduction in state services.

Spending for schools represents 46 per cent of budget, but biggest single non-mandatory boost for a department is in Public Welfare which gets an additional 54 1/2 millions.

Ceiling on state aid for school construction would be increased from 925 millions to $1,150,000,000.

Sheriff Throws His Hat in Ring For Prothonotary

—McIntosh Studio

Sheriff L. E. (Larry) Linder, who has been considering the proposition for several weeks, announced over the weekend that he has decided to be a candidate for nomination in the Republican ticket to the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts at the May 19 primary.

Linder, who lives with his wife, Frieda and two daughters, Barbara and Roberta at 105 Monroe street in this city, came to Warren in 1930 as a member of the Pennsylvania Highway Patrol before it was organized as the Pennsylvania State Police. Commenting on his candidacy Linder issued the following statement: "It has been a pleasure for me to serve you, the Citizens of Warren County in the important office of Sheriff, during which time I have always been ready and happy to serve each and every one in any way possible, or with any problems I have endeavored to administer the duties of the office I have held fairly, honestly, efficiently, economically and in a non-partisan manner. If I am elected to the important office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts you may rest assured that there will be a continuation of this type of service. "I earnestly solicit the support of all Republicans in this campaign to be nominated to an office with which I am already very familiar through my duties as Sheriff."

Funeral services were held at 11 a. m. today in Jamestown for Lee R. Hazzard, 60 year old resident of that place, who died at 7:15 p. m. Friday at his home. Rev. Josiah Rhodes, of Bethel Baptist church, officiated, and interment was made in McKean County Memorial Park at Lafayette.

Born July 18, 1898, in Nansen, Pa., he was a son of John J. and Hattie Proper Hazzard, and was employed as a mechanic at Jamestown Telephone Company the last 12 years. He attended Warren Business College and went to Jamestown 35 years ago from Kinzua.

In addition to his wife, Fannie Lewis Hazzard, survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Allene M. McDonald, of Liverpool; a brother, Lawrence Hazzard, of Bradford; a sister, Miss Ardis Hazzard, of Kinzua; a nephew, James Hazzard, of Bradford.

SAMUEL T. HOLMSTROM

Services in memory of Samuel Theodore Holmstrom, of 8 Schantz street, were held at 1:00 p. m. Saturday, with Rev. Ralph Findley, of Grace Methodist church, officiating. The following served as bearers for interment in the family plot in Oakland cemetery: Ivan Bidwell, Al Christensen, John Tanner, Howard Wilson, Clifford and Norman Forsgren.

In attendance from away were Mrs. Francis Luce and daughter, Mrs. Lillian Johnson and son, Claude Liedberg, Ripley, N. Y.

ESTHER F. GARRISON

Mrs. Esther Fennell Garrison, widow of Elbert W. Garrison, Sr., and former resident of 1 Second avenue, died at 11:45 a. m. Friday at the Brennan Root Nursing Home. Aged 75, she had been in ill health for the past year.

Mrs. Garrison was born in Dedham, Mass., March 2, 1883, and had been a resident of Warren for the past 45 years. She was a member of First Presbyterian church.

Surviving are two sons and a daughter, Elbert W. Harrison, Jr., Lakewood, N. Y.; Robert W. Garrison, Warren; and Mrs. Ruth G. Syberkrop, Davenport, Iowa; six grandchildren; also one sister, Mrs. Eleanor Anderson, Los Angeles, Calif. Her husband preceded her in death in 1947.

The Rev. Donald H. Spencer, of First Presbyterian church, will conduct services in her memory at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, with interment following in Oakland cemetery.

J. H. HARVEY

Jabez Hancher Harvey, 914 Elm street, died at his home at 5:45 p. m. Friday at the age of 80 years.

Born at Arnot, Pa., on February 22, 1879, Mr. Harvey came to Warren five years ago from Waterford, when he retired as an electrician.

Surviving are his wife, May Johnson Harvey; also three sisters, Mrs. Helen Broughton, Warren; Mrs. Sarah Hevener, Erie; and Mrs. Ethel Day, of Fairview.

The Rev. Charles E. Kinney, of First Evangelical United Brethren church, conducted funeral services at 2:00 p. m. today, with interment following in Oakland cemetery.

IN MEMORIAM

Clarendon Youth Critically Hurt In Jeep Mishap

Pfc. Leonard R. Mahood
82nd Airborne Div.

Critical injuries were sustained by a 19-year-old Clarendon Airborne youth when the jeep he was driving near Fort Bragg, North Carolina, struck a falling sand bag and turned over, pinning its occupant underneath.

Reported to be in "fair condition" in Fort Bragg Army Hospital is Leonard "Buzz" Mahood, son of Mrs. Melvin Moylan, Clarendon.

According to word received from Mahood's brother, James Mahood of Clarendon, who returned from Fort Bragg last evening, "Buzz" was driving an Airborne jeep off base while on a maneuver as a messenger.

The jeep struck a sand bag which had fallen off a truck preceding Mahood's vehicle. The jeep turned over, pinning the local man underneath.

Rushed to Fort Bragg Army Hospital by helicopter, Mahood spent six hours in the operating room. His doctor told the family that the parachute suffered severe abdominal injuries, a badly crushed liver and a ruptured spleen.

Doctors said it will be about three weeks before definite signs of his condition will be available.

The injured man's brother and mother drove to Fort Bragg Friday evening after receiving a telegram of the mishap. He was "much improved" when visited by his family Mrs. Moylan will remain at Fort Bragg for a week.

Mahood, who attended Warren High school, entered the service April, 1957 and was expected to be discharged next month.

125 Evacuated After Freight Train Wreck

DANVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Some 125 persons, evacuated Sunday after a freight train carrying chemicals from the Atomic Energy Commission was derailed, were allowed to return to their homes in nearby Geneva early today.

Explosions, apparently set off by the impact of the crash, caused fires that burned out of control in the 28 derailed cars of the southern Kentucky community because they didn't know what the cargo contained and feared further explosions.

An AEC spokesman at Oak Ridge, Tenn., said the chemicals were highly inflammable but not radioactive.

United States Finances

(Part I)

(Editor's Note: There is growing concern in Washington about the Treasury's difficulties in managing a record national debt of 286 billion dollars. This is the first of four articles assessing the situation.)

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP)—Uncle Sam is having trouble borrowing the billions he needs to stay in business.

No one doubts he'll get the money he requires, one way or another. The question is: what price will he have to pay—in terms of dollars, economic difficulty and possible inflation?

If the price gets high enough, a financial crisis could develop. Treasury officials say they're optimistic but their concern is apparent.

The government's plight was dramatized last month when nine billion dollars of loans supplied by private lenders came due. Like any harried debtor, Uncle Sam asked his creditors to renew the loans. As encouragement, he offered them new and more generous terms.

The lenders—banks, corporations and individuals—had a choice. They could renew their loans for one year and collect 3½ per cent interest or renew for three years and get 4 per cent.

Historically, these interest rates are very high. In some cases, they were more than double the rate paid on the original loans.

Nevertheless, two billion dollars of loans were not renewed. The lenders wanted their money back.

Uncle Sam had expected a sizable demand for cash—but not this much. He didn't have the funds to pay off the maturing loans and was forced to make an emergency borrowing.

This meant he was able to get all the credit he needed only on the second attempt. He had expected to get enough the first time. It was a sobering experience for the world's best credit risk.

What went wrong? There can be no precise answer since the result represented decisions by scores of lenders who didn't put their reasons in writing.

Treasury officials are inclined to blame "technical factors." However, they concede some of the responsibility belongs to these other—more ominous—factors:

1. Fear of rising interest rates in a period of economic recovery.
2. Fear of inflation.

If an investor believes inflation is the "wave of the future," he doesn't want to tie up his money in a government I.O.U.—a Treasury security—that would depreciate in value. He's more apt to invest in common stocks or real estate, hoping their value will keep pace with inflation.

All interest rates tend to rise in periods of inflation. Lenders need more incentive to make a loan since they'll be paid back in dollars of diminishing value.

Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve Board has been restricting credit—in effect, holding down the supply of money available for lending. The board has done this in hopes of preventing an inflation of credit which could inflate the whole economy.

Both these developments have put upward pressure on interest rates.

Adding to that pressure, many investors have decided inflation is coming and so have declined to lend.

It is in this environment that the Treasury is financing a record national debt of 286 billion dollars. That it is having problems is not surprising.

Local Driver Has Difficulty With Car and Liquor

A 20-year-old North Warren man figured in two separate accidents early Saturday morning within a ten minute period.

After sideswiping a car on Route 62, Douglas Burke, 18 North State street, struck two pedestrians walking along Route 62, just a mile south of Burke's first accident.

A charge of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor was placed against Burke after State Police investigation. He was arraigned before Justice of Peace Fred Berry Saturday and pleaded not guilty to the charge. He posted bond for hearing at a later date.

According to the police report, Burke was traveling south on 62 five miles north of Warren about 1:45 a. m. Saturday when he struck a northbound auto driven by Salvatore Calmeri, Jamestown. Damages were estimated at $800 to both machines.

One mile south of the sideswiping incident, Burke's car struck 18-year-old Robert Verga of Jamestown and Jerry Jordan, of 1614 South street, Warren. Removed to Warren General Hospital, the pair were treated and released. Verga for a fractured left wrist, bruise and abrasions of left arm; a mild concussion and abrasions of left cheek for Jordan.

Bidders are required to protect their bids for a period of thirty (30) days from proposal date.

The Diocese of Erie, Board of Missions, and the Vestry of St. Francis of Assisi Church reserve the right to reject any or all bids without explanation.

The Rev. R. Bruce Ryan, Vicar, St. Francis of Assisi Church, Youngsville, Pennsylvania, 2-26-59.

Firemen Answer Four Calls Over Weekend

A fairly active period was reported by Borough Firemen Friday as remaining weekend found no action.

Early Friday morning, H. C. Pudder, Pittsfield, drove to Central Fire station—with his trouble. A cigarette caused about $20 damage when it caught the front seat on fire. The blaze was extinguished at the station.

Friday afternoon at 4:34, a chimney fire at 1211½ Sechrist street, started a small fire on the kitchen floor. An estimated $150 damages was done to the apartment, occupied by Carl Nelson. Firemen returned to the scene at 7:12 for an investigation. No fire was found.

A shorted wire on an outside fluorescent lamp at State Diner caused $50 damages at 11:35 Friday evening. Firemen were at the scene for 36 minutes.

Almost every bridge player feels that he can play no-trump contracts extremely well. Some are right but none is good enough to make tricks appear from nowhere.

South had this no-trump disease in its most advanced stage. The fact that he held three spades to the jack and that his partner had bid spades and then jumped meant nothing to him. He went right on to three no-trump.

North was tempted to go to four spades but decided that maybe this time South knew what he was doing.

Four spades would have been a cinch. North probably would have made five-odd. Three no-trump also could make double dummy. You readers can figure out the play if you wish.

In this case South won the first club and shot the suit right back. West took his king and decided to cash one high club to see what would happen. East signaled with the ten of hearts. West took his last club and led a heart. East's ace and king proceeded to set the hand.

News of Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"The chick in skins took the long and airy and got buzzed by germs."

Translation: "The girl in a fur coat went on an airplane ride and caught a cold."

This is a rough example of a new kind of talk that is buzzing the teen-age set. Some parents aren't immune, either. Much of it stems from a lad who calls himself Edd Byrnes—"Edward is too formal, Ed too short and I don't like Eddie." He's the guy who plays Kookie on ABC's Friday night exercise in criminalities, "77 Sunset Strip."

Edd was a New York actor who had been doing bits at Warner Brothers. He was cast as a killer in the first "77er," made such a hit that he reformed and became a steady character in the series. And do the teen-agers dig him? His fan mail on the list ranks with James Garner, right there on top.

Besides being a handsome, wholesome 25-year-old, Edd's appeal stems from his jivey dialogue, strictly from hollywood. It dates back to swing talk of the '30s with some modern touches. The adjective "kookie" is the most noted of this new lingo. I find it used almost universally by show folk. Possibly stemming from cuckoo, it describes something wild, weird or wonderful. Synonyms: way out, cool.

Among Edd's etymology: "Don't blow your jets—Don't get angry."

Antville—A place full of people. A Washington—Dollar bill. Pile up the z's—Sleep.

You're getting the beat—You're beginning to understand. Just about the only sorrow of Edd's newfound fame is that people now expect him to talk like a kook in real life. He's not from squaresville, but he isn't kookie, either. He leads a normal bachelor life in a home just above, oddly enough, the Sunset Strip.

He is so busy that he doesn't have time to join the mushroom people who pack into the Sunset Strip coffee houses. And he wouldn't if he could. "All those kooks do is sit around and stare at each other," he said. (Mushroom people: Those who come out at night to get their kicks.)

RADIO and TV

By CHARLES MERCER

AP Radio-Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Everyone of middle-age or older should take a look at "Generation Without a Cause."

The first part of this interesting examination of contemporary college age youth was presented on "20th Century" (CBS-TV) Sunday. The second part will be seen next Sunday evening. I saw both filmed portions last week.

"Generation Without a Cause" does not solve the mystery of "What's with the kids these days?" But it sets you to thinking and it's almost impossible to look at it without becoming subjective. It is, therefore, worthwhile TV programming.

Producer Stephen Fleischman, after long research, chose Rutgers as a pretty typical American college on which to concentrate his cameras.

In the first part of the program youths themselves agreed with the findings of all the polls, surveys and the like made of the younger generation in our presently poll-prone nation. As summarized by narrator Walter Cronkite:

"Even the most alert and outspoken students admit to being cautious, waiting—and concerned mainly with themselves and their own individual fulfillment. Nowhere have we found any indication of this generation having a new movement or cause of its own. What does this mean to our nation?"

Next Sunday the program finds that there are exceptions to the big generalization. It examines one exception in the case of a Rutgers student named Peter Knauss who says that in the conformism of modern youth it takes a lot of courage to want something besides a comfortable house with two-car garage in suburbia.

People like myself, nearing the age of nostalgia, are inclined to remember it as a better age simply because we had a lot of causes.

I remember writing impassioned editorials for the college daily against fortifying Guam. With a certain stunning swiftness I found myself on Guam after violent moves by Japan—because we failed to fortify it adequately.

Now I find myself living in a comfortable suburban house with two-car garage, concerned, in Cronkite's words, about today's youth, "mainly with my own individual fulfillment."

I think there are a lot of people like myself who served in World War II and the Korean War, who joined innumerable good causes and organizations and who today have no particular cause except to act decently. It may seem deplorable to some, but it's the general temper of the times.

Whatever one says about today's youth, can we expect it to find causes where its elders do not? Whenever a good and urgent cause rises, I'll bet they embrace it as passionately as we did.

THEORIES AND A BOOKMOBILE

There is an old saying that you can get an expert to say almost anything on either side of an issue. One expert psychiatrist will say in a murder trial that the defendant is sane and another expert will testify that the person is insane.

The principle of an expert's advice can be applied in any field be it psychiatry or Bookmobiles. It seems to us that our considerable study and conferences with library officials that the proponents of a Bookmobile are using pure theory in their appeals to public sympathy.

The comments which we have received from our readers by letter and by telephone have shown that the county people neither need nor want a Bookmobile. The library in Pittsburgh, for example, has still on its windows the Halloween soap and on its porch the dust of many untrodden footsteps. The merchants in that area who sell national magazines and weekly publications find that their sales have dwindled to half of the pre-television era.

The experts' theories are such dreamy, idealistic things that one wonders if they are dry behind the ears. A Bookmobile is supposed to stop at every country store and hope that swarms of readers will storm the Bookmobile quarreling over the contents of the truck. If the taxpayers of Warren County feel this crying need for a traveling library, we feel they should express themselves to the County Commissioners and this newspaper.

The writer of this editorial is a daily user of the public library and would like to see its facilities expanded. It seems unrealistic to this writer that the mere fact of a Bookmobile is going to be the impetus for the residents of Warren County to start a trend to combat the Russian superiority in the fields of nuclear physics.

We are also greatly amused by the published efforts of some people to deny the politics involved in this Bookmobile. The Times-Mirror is and always has been a non-partisan newspaper devoted to publishing the news without bias for all of Warren County.

As we said before, the boundaries of a county do not necessarily bind the people to one center nor to one idea. This paper serves the entire county and is always ready to serve all county residents.

THE BEST SELLING MEDIUM

How valuable is newspaper advertising to the retail merchant?

Here's what the president of one department store has to say: "If I were suddenly restricted to one and only one advertising medium I would board up the display windows, discontinue all interior and departmental selling displays, eliminate all informative show cards, discontinue all sales meetings and sales incentives, stop all tele-selling—and continue an aggressive business-building advertising investment in the newspapers."

This merchant also terms newspapers "the total selling medium." What advertiser could ask for more?

WASHINGTON (AP)—There is a simpler view than some of the guesses on why Premier Nikita Khrushchev gave British Prime Minister Macmillan a rude, fast brushoff when he went to Moscow to discuss the Berlin crisis.

The guesses range from thinking Khrushchev was making one more effort to intimidate the West to saying he was impatient with Macmillan for not bringing solid solutions with him to Moscow.

The simpler view is that the realistic Khrushchev thinks strictly in terms of power and who has the muscle. He has shown he understands what power means by getting rid of all his rivals in the U.S.S.R. until now he stands supreme.

In this world the two most powerful forces are the Soviet Union and the United States. They dominate. Compared with them every other nation is a second-rate force, according to this view.

The two leaders of the two dominant powers are Khrushchev and President Eisenhower. Therefore, any talks except directly between Khrushchev and Eisenhower are a gumbeating waste of time.

If this view is accepted, then that would explain why Khrushchev treated Macmillan like a messenger boy, dismissed the idea of a foreign ministers meeting as time-wasting, and aimed at what he has sought more than a year:

a summit meeting with Eisenhower. His meeting with Macmillan was in a way a kind of junior summit. He showed what he thought of Macmillan's importance by the way he treated the British prime minister, who was his guest.

Khrushchev has given the United States Britain and France until May 27 to get their troops out of Berlin. If they don't, he has threatened to let the East German Communists block any supplies the Big Three attempt to send their Berlin troops.

Since this situation could lead to war, the Western Big Three proposed to seek a peaceful solution by talking. But their idea of who talks and Khrushchev's idea are not the same.

The Big Three—following what has become a kind of reflex action any time trouble arises—suggested that their three foreign ministers get together with the Soviet foreign minister to talk things over. Such foreign ministers meetings in the past, as Khrushchev later emphasized, can be time-consuming. They can be and often have been, unproductive.

Before the Soviets could give an official answer to the proposal about foreign ministers, Macmillan decided to go to Moscow, see Khrushchev, and try to lay the groundwork for peaceful solutions.

But, since the Big Three were not yet willing to go beyond the idea of a ministers' meeting, Macmillan couldn't carry with him to (Turn to Page Twelve)

Weights and measures play better be accurate, too. In vital roles in everyday lives of each of us declares Ralph Dyke, Bear Lake RD 1, heading up the local observance of "National Weights and Measures Week, March 1 to 7. Ever consider what a muddle the world would be in if we didn't have such prosaic regulators as standard units of weights and measures? Without such units, our complex way of life would quickly be plunged into chaos, declares Mr. Dyke. The observance of "National Weights and Measures Week," honors the 150th anniversary of the enactment of the first weights and measures law by Congress in 1790. "When the housewife buys a pound of meat or the motorist a gallon of gasoline, they depend upon the accuracy of such measurements," Mr. Dyke said. "Millions of such transactions obviously requiring accurate weightings and measurement are carried on in Warren county each week. 'Not so obvious,' Mr. Dyke said are the tens of thousands of ways in which accurate weighing affects our way of life. Take such things as weighing ten dollar bills, for instance. Many banks now weigh their money instead of counting it to check the count on packages of bills and coins. Scales so sensitive they can immediately detect the absence of a coin or a bill are drastically cutting down on the tedious task of counting money in banks. 'Flowers are sometimes sold by weight. The sensitive scale can separate 'em into bunches 12 inches long, 16 inches long, and 18 inches long,' Mr. Dyke reports. The same goes with expensive flower seed, such as rare varieties of petunias sometimes costing as much as $16.00 a pound. And, of course, everyone knows that gold bullion and dust have always been bought and sold by scale weights, and they'd financial stakes involved are enormous. Every citizen has a direct financial stake—and so does every businessman—in seeing that all such transactions are fair both to buyer and seller."

Daily Lenten Meditations

From the Upper Room

Read Acts 9:1-4.
"If any one sins in that he hears a public adjuration to testify . . . yet does not speak, he shall bear his iniquity." (Leviticus 5:1.)
Mosaic law said it long ago. We see it all around: the sin of silent consent—the sin of remaining silent when justice and right command a man to speak. Yet he does not speak for fear of being branded different or suffering unpleasant consequences.
One of my worst memories is that of a double lynching. Two young men were killed by a mob, and not a single man lifted his voice in protest.
The rough-and-tumble world needs the Christian insight more than ever before. But it can only be brought to others' attention when Christians witness to it.
In the book of Acts we read these tragic words: "And Saul was consenting to his (Stephen's) death." Saul did not throw a single stone, but by his silence he was a party to that cruel act. After by his conversion on the road to Damascus, he repented, was forgiven, and tried to make amends, as Paul the Apostle.
The world waits for and expects to hear the voice of Christians. Let us not be guilty of the sin of silence.

PRAYER

God, give us courage to speak and act not on the basis of fear, but on the basis of courage. Grant to us the courage and power promised by Jesus Christ, the one who was crucified yet conquered death. In His name we pray. Amen.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—What ever became of self-reliance? It used to be the mark of most Americans. They took care of themselves, their families—young and old—and their own futures. They went to work with the idea of getting ahead, maybe dreaming of being their own boss, risky as that might be.

Now the emphasis seems to have swung to something called security.

Many employers complain that when they interview a job applicant today the talk switches at once to what kind of a pension plan the company has. The job seeker mentally figures how that will supplement the social security he'll collect from the government.

The would-be employee also asks about the company's policies on severance pay and unemployment benefits, health insurance, sick pay and many other fringe benefits.

But business itself is just as busy chasing security.

Government subsidies aimed at insuring the security of various groups or industries take many forms.

There is the familiar cry of the railroads that the airlines benefit from postal subsidies and from use of airport facilities built at taxpayers' expense; and that trucks use highways also provided by tax money.

Security on the farm is a political issue. The farmer can't be made secure from the weather's onslaughts—droughts, floods, dust storms. But in many cases he can be sure that the price of what he does raise will be supported by the government, and that in some cases he'll be paid by the soil bank for NOT raising anything.

Industry turns to government for many kinds of security against the perils of foreign, or even domestic, competition. Government stockpiling has been used to furnish markets for, and support prices of, various metals and other materials.

Small business looks to government to make credit available on favorable terms and to watch constantly lest big business get too big—and to remember them particularly when government orders are handed out.

CONVALESCING FROM CANCER SURGERY

The word cancer means "crab" and, as such, is well named. It begins in one organ and will grow lawlessly through the remainder of the body unless removed.

The cancer surgeon must fight fire with fire, if he is to save life. This explains why many of the operations are extensive. After radical surgery, recovery may be prolonged and the victim often has feelings of rejection or resentment. It takes considerable thought and planning to make these individuals comfortable, boost their morale, and get them into the mood for rehabilitation.

When it is necessary to remove the voice box because of cancer of the larynx, for example, the patient cannot talk in a normal fashion and must be taught substitute methods. Discussing the problem with others who have gone thru the mill and have learned to speak thru artificial means often helps the newly operated person.

The same can be said of the one who loses a leg of an arm because of malignancy. He ought to watch a leg amputee who can dance and do everything else with an artificial limb.

Cancer of the lower bowel and rectum is curable when removed completely. But to do this, an artificial opening to the outside (colostomy) may be needed to allow waste products from the intestine to escape. The opening is made thru the abdominal wall and meticulous care is needed to avoid odors and to assure cleanliness. Colostomy care has been worked out in detail so these individuals can live and work without the slightest inconvenience. Instructions can be obtained thru various sources.

There are innumerable drugs to relieve the intractable pain of certain cancers. Simple neurological procedures are available when pain cannot be eased thru medicines. If nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea follow extensive X-ray therapy, these symptoms can be relieved with products such as chlorpromazine and vitamin B.

HAIR CHANGES

R. T. writes: My year-old daughter had fine blonde hair until she was 6. It then turned coarse, kinky, and black. Would you have any idea what caused this change?

REPLY

Children's hair tends to darken and get thicker after age 6. Years ago, two New York dermatologists reported a case of thinning in a 21 year old man with a vigorous head of light brown, straight hair. It became black and kinky. Not all the scalp was involved and the cause never was determined.

INSULIN USES

D. H. K. writes: Is the insulin used in mental illness the same as that used in treating diabetes? If so, how does insulin help mental disease?

REPLY

The insulin is the same. It is used in mental disease to lower the blood sugar to the point of producing insulin shock. This type of shock often brings mental patients back to normal.

Sick Patient, ICA, Gets
New M.D. in Riddleberger

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—International Cooperation Administration, which administers the nonmilitary foreign aid program, is now diagnosed as being in the convalescent stage.

During the Eisenhower administration, ICA suffered from high fevers under Ex-Gov. Harold Stassen. Then it sustained a severe heart attack, Helms and maybe a hernia too under its next administrator, John B. Hollister, who had doubts whether the patient ought to live.

Under his successor James H. Smith Jr., ICA had its crisis. He didn't believe in public relations and his sick agency became sicker. But Hollister and Smith both went back to where they came from and ICA has survived in spite of them.

SO NOW A NEW DOCTOR has been assigned to the case. He is James W. Riddleberger, a Foreign Service career officer who didn't particularly want the ICA job, either.

Not being able to find a competent Republican business executive-type to run ICA the Eisenhower administration had to fall back on a professional diplomat. It is admitted he has no other qualification for the job. He has never been an administrator. He is not a specialist on economics.

He has served as U.S. ambassador to Yugoslavia and Greece, where the U.S. has had large scale military and economic aid programs. So he does have some knowledge on how these things operate in the field, which will help.

HAVING LIVED THROUGH several years of worse neglect than this, ICA is expected to keep going under loyal old hands like Deputy Director D. A. Fitzgerald and Ambassador C. Tyler Wood, who have been in the business since Marshall Plan days. But as some anonymous classicist once remarked, that's no way to run a railroad. Or a government either.

President Eisenhower says there is nothing more important to this country's security than his foreign aid program. He confesses there is growing hostility to it.

But as long as it is treated like an unwanted child, with little or no inspirational drive at the top, it's difficult to see how anything else can be expected.

JUST HOW WOEFULLY unco-ordinated they are now is shown by a recent survey in Indonesia. Nine U.S. agencies are administering technical assistance—killing mosquitoes, spreading fertilizer, lending money, furnishing arms or what have you. Eight more are dishing out United Nations aid. Four Colombo Plan countries have a piece of the business. Two private American foundations are contributing. So are Germany and Russia. That's 25 in all.

One new U.S. lending agency and another new one in the U.N. are now being created to horn in on the act later on. But what Indonesia and all other countries now receiving foreign aid are said to need more than anything else is a special mission to explain U.S. government administration. It's so complicated few ambassadors understand it, let alone trying to manage it.

To get all this administrative detail out of his own office and give him time to work on major foreign policy issues, Sec. Dulles has shoved the foreign aid program off on his Undersecretary for Economic Affairs, C. Douglas Dillon. But so far not even this experienced private investment banker and businessman has been able to give the convalescent ICA enough transfusions to get it out of bed.

Duo-Pianists Delight Audience in Jaycee Concert Appearance Here

The sprightly Austrahan-American piano duo of Nelson and Neal gave a vivifying impetus to the current Jaycee Concert Series, as they presented a well-chosen four-hand piano program in Beatty auditorium Friday night, thrilling the audience and evoking spontaneous and prolonged applause.

Both illustrated the relationship between the artist's performance and personality, in their dual impact on the audience, transmitting their relaxed absorption and enjoyment of music.

A relaxed, confident couple, Nelson and Neal were a joy to hear and see; they were as romantic and charming as a husband-and-wife team as the music they chose to play. Etched with consummate pianism and at breathtaking speed, the artists' music remained marvelously clear and transparent throughout. Exquisite delicacy and refinement, technical finesse and poetic sensibility produced every note of pure gold.

Nelson and Neal possess an unbelievable combination of rare musical genius, youth and charm, really a first-rate piano team, amazingly well-integrated. When they sit at their pianos, the Neals seem to be alone in their own music room, loving life, each other, and their music. It is that feeling that they give their audience.

You realize you are hearing not only mature, but sensitive musicians, who perform with fire, thunder, delicacy and grace, and always display beautiful musicianship and in perfect accord.

Their playing is euphony of the first order, with sparkle plus control of balance and rubato. Transcending purely musical bounds, these young people have the power to capture their audience by some force of their personality. As long as young artists with such high aesthetic standards and such a contagious feeling for their medium continue to play on this culturally-awakening continent, the arts will not become sterile or repetitive, but will thrive.

The entire performance was one to be cherished, and area music-lovers who filled Beatty auditorium clamored for five encores after the formal program had been completed.

Jaycee music committeeman invites season ticket holders to enjoy another evening of classical music this Saturday evening at 8:30 in Beatty auditorium, when famed Metropolitan Opera baritone Hugh Thompson will be presented in this season's bonus concert. The appearance of Mr. Thompson will conclude this season's series of outstanding concerts sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

First Baptist Plans Coming Anniversary

The First Baptist church of Warren is this year marking its 125th anniversary. It was on May 6, 1834 at the Court House in Warren that 16 men and women of Warren, with a few staunch Baptists from Chautauqua county, N. Y., met for the purpose of organizing a Baptist church in Warren.

It was many years before they had a church building; meanwhile meetings were held in the Court House and in the Warren Academy, which stood on the site of the present-day Woman's Club.

Down through the years, many leaders have come and gone, both pastors and laymen. From 1860 to 1926, the Baptists occupied a house of worship on Liberty street, near the corner of Third avenue. The present edifice on Market street was erected in 1925-1926 during the pastorate of Harold F. Stoddard. The present membership is somewhat over 400.

Plans for appropriate ceremonies marking the 125th year are being made by the following committee: Dr. Carl E. Whipple, Francis H. Hetrick, Mrs. Claude Barlow, Mrs. Ned Lauffer and Mrs. Alice E. Still-Branch, the latter having been named historian.

It is expected that several former pastors will participate in the program. Dr. Stoddard, now president of the Baptist Institute for Christian Workers at Bryn Mawr, has already accepted the invitation to share in the program, the exact dates which will be announced shortly.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH ACTIVITIES
"Psychiatry and Psychology in the Life of a Christian" will be the subject when Calvary Baptist Women meet at the church at 7:45 p. m. Tuesday for the regular combined session, with Dr. Johnson as guest speaker.

Other events include: Monday—7:00, Deacons meeting; Wednesday—7:00, Bible study and prayer, followed by choir rehearsal and Christian Education Committee meeting; Thursday—7:45, Brotherhood meeting in the annex; Friday—7:00, Boys' Club have challenged the Brotherhood to a session of basketball and volleyball in First Baptist gym; Saturday—7:00, Prayer for Revival.

An interesting missionary conference with conference missionaries home on furlough and conference mission leaders from headquarters in Chicago is planned later this month.

FAMILY NIGHT
Residents of Pleasant township are urged to attend the PTA-sponsored Family Night, starting promptly at 7:00 p. m. Tuesday at the fire hall. John Franson, Allegheny Forest supervisor, will be on hand with recreation and conservation films for entertainment, and a Boy Scout exhibit will be on display.

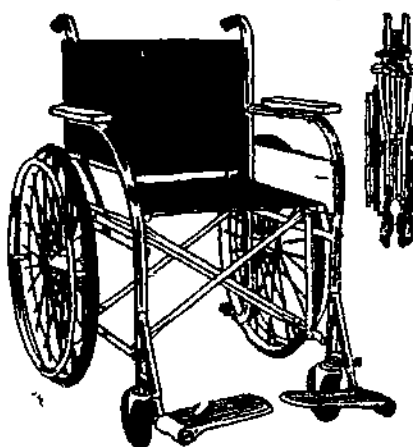

This is a community program for the entire family, and refreshments will be served at the close of the program. Everyone is urged to attend and meet neighbors, teachers, and PTA members.

Martha Society Will Sponsor Lenten Tea

The Martha Society of Emanuel United Church of Christ is sponsoring a Lenten Tea in the church on Wednesday afternoon, beginning at two o'clock.

Miss Ruth Maguire, local YWCA executive director, will present a Lenten Meditation, and music will be provided by Mrs. Everett Borg, contralto; soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Carl Whipple.

All members and friends of the church are cordially invited to enjoy this program, which will be followed by a social hour in the church parlors.

Emanuel church is located at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue, east, and Alston street.

PARENTS CLUB MEETING

It's Father's Night tonight at 7:30 when the Parents Club of Home Street School gathers for a regular monthly meeting. A. C. Amos, Jr., is in charge of the program, with Meade Hinderlith conducting devotions. A good attendance is desired.

COLLEGE CLUB GUEST

Leona Mourtou Nelson, Bronxville, N. Y., will be guest speaker for the open meeting of college Club at 8:00 p. m. Thursday in the YWCA activities building. An accomplished entertainer, Mrs. Nelson presents for her program a wealth of material she has condensed from current Broadway shows and members are privileged to invite guests for the occasion. Mrs. John H. Hovey is program chairman for the evening. Mrs. Harold T. Bright will head the hostess committee.

FRIENDSHIP CLASS

The monthly meeting of Friendship Class of Grace Methodist church will be held at the Alvin Cable home, Warren RD 1, at 8:00 p. m. Tuesday, with a short business session, entertainment conducted by the Harold Walls, and lunch to follow. All are asked to have Easter egg orders in no later than March 9.

Warren and Kane Has Orchestral Exchange

At 7:30 this evening in Beaty Junior High School auditorium, Director Harry Summers, of Warren, will join with Director Hartley Johnston, of Kane, in presenting a musical experiment for orchestral groups.

In the manner of the band exchange held each year with Bradford, Mr. Johnston came to Warren this morning with a group of his Kane High School Orchestra members. They combined with some of Mr. Summers' junior high and high school orchestra personnel for a day of rehearsal and preparation of a program to be played this evening. Solo instruments to be heard will be a violinist from Kane; a flutist from Warren.

There will be no admission charge for tonight's event and all school music friends are welcome.

For the second half of the exchange, Mr. Summers and his young people will go to Kane March 16, when guest soloist will be a bassoon player from Indiana State Teachers' College; Edwina Anderson, Warren, will play a cello solo; Sue Werner, also of Warren, a flute solo.

SOLIDAY-McGARY RITES ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Wenzel Anthony, Warren RD 2, announce the marriage of their daughter, Joanne McGary, to Jack Soliday, of Jamestown, N. Y. They were married February 14, 1959 by the Rev. A. W. Gibson, of Erie.

GRACE CHURCH EVENTS

Monday—7:00, Boy Scouts; 7:30, Marilyn Eddy Circle will meet with Mrs. Ervin Rader, 205½ Dartmouth street; 7:45, Hannah Gallagher Circle will meet with Mrs. Frank O. Johnson, 1300 Madison avenue, and Marjorie Jane Smock Circle will have a work bee at Cancer Center.

Wednesday—3:45, Junior Choir rehearsal; 7:30, Senior Choir rehearsal, and midweek service.

Thursday—7:45, Ruth Ransom Society will meet with Mrs. Mabel Garber, 10 Glade avenue, for a birthday party.

COMMUNITY CLUB

Hemlock Community Club will hold its regular meeting Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the community center. All members are urged to be present to view the excellent film and hear a talk on cancer, to be presented under the auspices of the Warren County Unit, American Cancer Society.

GR CLASS MEMBERS DISCUSS PROJECTS

The February meeting of GR Class of Epworth Methodist church was held in the church social rooms, with Mary Jane Weaver in charge of devotions on the topic, "The Easter Way".

Betty Wright presided at the business session. The secretary's report was given by Leona Rydholm; the treasurer's report by Leola MacDowell. Members voted to buy a desk for their classroom, made a pledge to the Parsonage Fund, made a contribution for Rev. Hurst's trip to Washington, D. C., in April. It was decided to order more dish cloths as a money-raising project. The remainder of the evening was spent sewing on a doll project, sponsored by the Warren General Hospital Auxiliary.

Twenty members were present to enjoy delicious refreshments served by the hostesses Marian Anderson and Bette Baldensperger. Due to Holy Thursday, the March meeting will be held one week earlier, on March 19th.

DORCAS CLASS MEETING

Members of Dorcas Class of First Lutheran church will meet Wednesday evening at 7:15 to attend a 7:30 Lenten service together. Following the service the regular business meeting will be held in the church parlors and a good attendance is urged.

JAMESTOWN BRIDGE CENTER WINS

Jamestown Bridge Center had a seven-table Mitchell game for its weekly tournament, with average 84 and winners recorded as follows:

North—South—Mrs. John Westrom and Mrs. Lucy Johnson, 95; Dick Schuler and Dr. R. H. Israel, Warren, 94½; Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Rupp, 88½; East—West—Mrs. Harry Hendrickson and Mrs. Conrad H. Nelson, 110½; Mrs. Lester Wassink and Mrs. Leon Button tied with G. H. Elmer and Herbert Left, 87½.

The club's monthly Master Point game will be played this Wednesday at all area players are welcome.

CLASSIFIED ADS accepted until 11 a. m. on day of publication.

Sue Werner to All-State Event

Sue Werner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Werner, 103 Redwood street, will represent Warren in the Pennsylvania State Orchestra Festival to be held at Scranton March 12, 13, 14, according to an announcement by Harry Summers.

Miss Werner, first chair flutist in both the Warren High school band and orchestra, brings six years of experience into play, having studied under such teachers as Frederick Wilkins, Harold Skinner, Buffalo Philharmonic and currently with Donald Harman of Jamestown, N. Y.

Guest director for the group of Pennsylvania's most talented high school musicians will be Louis Werson, director of Music of the Philadelphia School system.

Gathered From The Party Line

Friends will be pleased to learn that Frank Fadale is recovering nicely from surgery performed two weeks ago at Erie Veterans' Hospital, and expects to be discharged there in another week or two.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Koebley, Fourth avenue, are in St. Petersburg, Fla., for a couple of months, writing they are enjoying the balmy weather.

Dr. John W. Lasher was in Franklin last week to attend the monthly meeting of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Chiropractic Association.

Mrs. John Trevenen and daughter, Mary, former Warren residents, left this morning for their home in New Canaan, Conn. after a week's visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Guiffre, Jr., 615 Henry street.

Y-TEEN REMINDER

Y-Teen members are reminded their regular meeting will be held at 7:30 this evening. Miss Knapp will be the speaker, on a topic of interest to all members, and a business session will follow.

Epworth WSCS Will Sponsor Lenten Tea

At a meeting of Epworth Methodist WSCS, held in the church parlors, plans were completed for a Lenten Tea to be held March 17, when Mrs. Carleton Foss, of Mayville, N. Y., a missionary to Malaya, will be the speaker.

Beathea Granquist, president, conducted the session and read a poem entitled "Without a Scar". Ruth Anderson conducted the devotional service on the theme "What Does Your Religion Mean to You?"

Members were asked to bring World Bank to the March meeting, when a fine program has been planned. Dr. Richard Murphy, from Warren State Hospital, will speak and show slides on Alaska. The Stoneham WSCS and Epworth Friendship Circle are invited to attend the March meeting.

Geraldine Brooks was in charge of the program on the theme "New Frontier". A social hour followed, with Bernadine Circle as hostess group.

DESSERT-LUNCHEON CLUB MEETING

Present at the monthly meeting of the Dessert-Luncheon Club of the YMCA were 37 members. Following serving by the committee, composed of Mrs. Everett Borg, Mrs. Carl Whipple, Mrs. Karl Timm, Mrs. Ralph Van Ord, Mrs. Warren Rohlin and Mrs. Ned Lauffer, routine business was conducted by the president, Mrs. Herbert Bartz.

Attention was called to the trip to the opera planned for April by the YWCA, and members were invited to become part of this group.

Mrs. Millie Anderson of Betty Lee, spoke on spring fashions in hats, assisted by Mrs. Everett Borg, Mrs. Herbert Bartz, and Mrs. Elmer Baldensperger as models. It was most enjoyable.

The March meeting of the club has been advanced to the 20th instead of the 27th, so it will not conflict with Holy Week. At that time a luncheon will be held, and Mrs. Geraldine Nelson will speak on "Let's Decorate."

Add Your Own Cliche List To This Social Dictionary

Social Dictionary of much-used phrases and their actual meanings:

"Do come by and see us some time." Not to be taken literally. The person issuing that vague invitation would be mighty surprised if you did happen to turn up next day.

"Don't go to a lot of trouble." This is a phrase used not to lighten your load, but to ease the conscience of a person putting you to trouble.

"It was a lovely party." This is a remark women guests use to describe all parties, good, bad and indifferent.

"How interesting." A useful phrase, for it can be used when you can't find any other word. It's especially helpful when you are being shown a contemporary painting, an obscure gadget or even when you are told a long-winded, pointless story.

"We're having a few people in." A "few people" can be six 16 or 200, depending on your hostess. Women, for some reason or other, never admit to having a big party.

"About eightish." When your hostess uses that phrase, don't arrive on the dot of eight. If you do, she probably won't ever be dressed to receive guests. Women who say "eightish" instead of eight are never on time, even for their own parties.

"We really should be going." That doesn't mean that guests are planning to leave. And you'll insult them if you jump to you feet and start showing them to the door. The thing you are supposed to say after that remark is, "It's early yet. Do stay a little longer."

Maximum of Praise Insures Minimum of Self-Respect

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

One night after finishing the Easter card he'd designed for his Grandma, Hugh showed it to his mother. She was very enthusiastic. She said, "How beautiful! How well you've printed that Happy Easter Wishes! Now show it to Daddy and ask him what he thinks."

But when Hugh obeyed, all his father said was, "What do you think of it?"

The question disconcerted Hugh. Later as he undressed for bed, it began to make him angry. He recalled the care he'd taken in tracing the rabbit on the Easter card, the pride he'd felt when he'd turned it into a Grandma Rabbit by putting glasses on its nose and giving it a crayoned red apron.

He relived his struggle to align the letters of "Happy Easter Wishes" and the time he'd spent looking for the ruler that had made them even. And suddenly grabbing his bathrobe, ran downstairs to shout to his father, "I don't care if you don't think my card is good! I do! I think it's the best Easter card Grandma will get from anybody!"

His father was quite pleased with himself. So should we be, too, when instead of praising a child we have aroused his self-respect.

Because praise never guarantees anyone self-respect. Praise is other people's feelings about our accomplishments. So people who get a lot of it sometimes get into the habit of evading their own feelings about what they do. They become so dependent on the critics' opinions that their own power to judge what they've done becomes paralyzed, making their own respect for it shadowy and unreal.

Actors, for example, are often unable to respect the performances they give on opening nights—and live in excruciating suspense until newspapers appear with opinions of them. Though they've applied all their skill and experience to playing their role well, they can feel no respect for their performance until some critic awards it his.

So when children clamor for our praise of school work or the way they've done some chore, it is wise to ask occasionally, "What do you think of what you've done?"

The refusal of praise may be exactly what is needed to arouse their awareness of the perseverance, skill and other assets which have produced the well-done work. And that awareness, sometimes born in anger, like Hugh's, is what we're after. It's self-respect.

Noted Playwright Passes Away in Stamford, Conn.

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP)—Playwright Maxwell Anderson saw the theater as a great force spreading light into the dark corners of human experience.

He took to writing plays late in life and then plunged into it as a "religious experience." He worked at it meticulously until a few days before he died.

Only a stroke stopped the flow from his pen. He was 70 when he died in Stamford hospital Saturday.

Anderson the man was interested in all the vital aspects of life. His eyes caught everything happening around him. His plays were a testimony to his breadth

Anderson the newspaperman of knowledge. playwright spotlighted congressional log rolling in "Both Your Houses," which won him the Pulitzer Prize in 1933.

Anderson, the poet playwright, wrote the play "What Price Glory," with Lawrence Stallings in 1924, to show war as something beyond a setting for heroic deeds.

Anderson, the social-conscious playwright, wrote "Winter" which he called it a "serious indictment of the hysterical justice meted out in the Sacco-Vanzetti trial."

Anderson, the romantic playwright, wrote the tender lyrics to the popular "September Song"—written 20 years ago for "Knickerbocker Holiday."

Anderson began as a teacher, drifted to newspaper writing, and came upon the theater quietly in 1923 with a play called "The White Desert." No one was enthusiastic. A year later "What Price Glory?" thundered onto Broadway and Anderson was able to devote full time to writing plays.

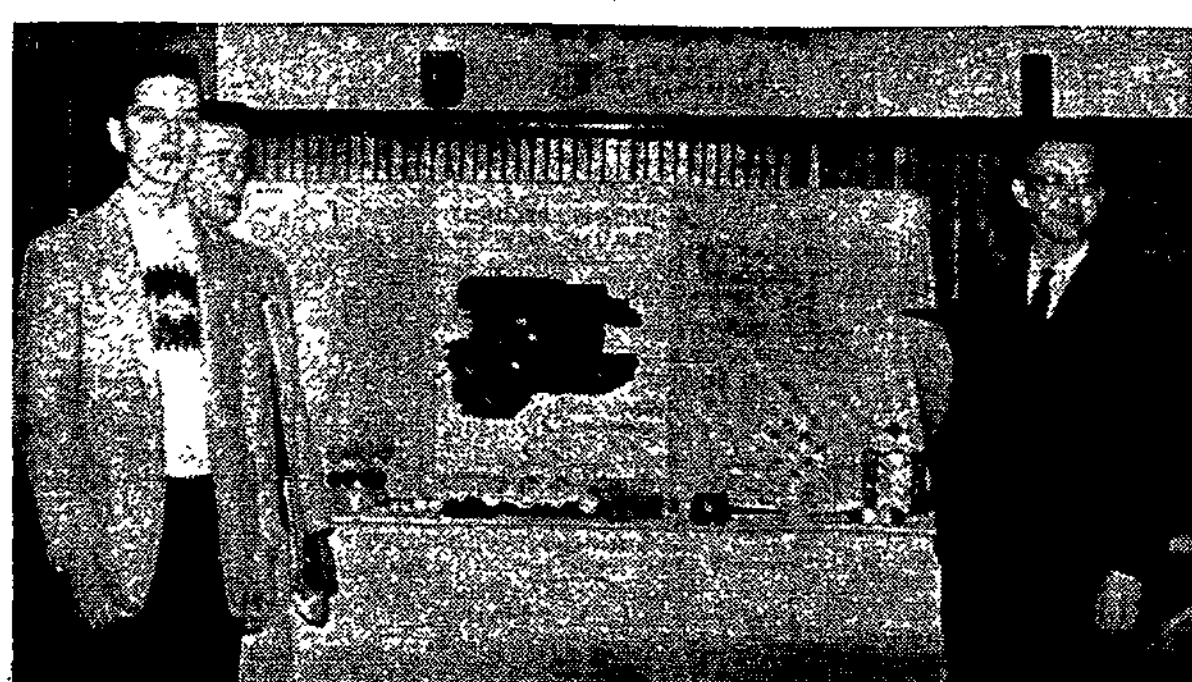

Anderson was a native of Atlantic, a Crawford County community near Greenville, Pa.

CERTIFICATE OF MERIT. Three Youngsville High school students (l. t. r.), George Loomis, Dennis Clark and Manfred Rydholm, received a certificate of merit for a project featured at the second annual Allegheny Mountain Science Fair. The Fair, sponsored by the local section of American Chemical Society, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, El-Cameron Medical Society, Institute of Radio Engineers, McKean County Heart chapter, McKean county Medical Society and Pennsylvania Society Professional Engineers, was held at Bradford High school in February. The Youngsville students are pictured by Everett Stokes with their entry "Geometric Bonding of complex Molecules and Ions." The Fair was a success and provided an opportunity for idea exchange among science minded students from district schools.

Central Labor Union Dinner Proves Largest and Most Pleasing in Local History

A total of 265 members of organized labor and their guests attended a very successful third annual labor Banquet sponsored by the Warren County Central Labor Council. This was without doubt, the largest gathering of organized labor in the history of Warren County.

The affair held Saturday night at the Marcom Outing Club was guided by Art White who acted as toastmaster in a very capable and efficient way.

Burgess William E. Rice stressed the constructive methods employed by the Labor Council when their resolutions were presented to the Boro council. He appreciated the interest that the Council has shown in civic and boro problems.

The honorable judge Flick remarked that he had attended all three labor banquets and noted each proved larger and more successful than the prior one. He offered his sincere appreciation for the financial support that is offered annually by the Central Council towards the Warren County Probation Association and he felt perhaps that the individual lodges would also like to assist in this very worthy cause.

President of the Labor Council, Karl Petersen Jr., related the present activities and the future goals of the Labor Council. Touching on civic programs of the Council he highlighted the Swimming Pool, industrial Development, Kinzua Dam and the education of the union worker of their civic obligation toward Warren County. The labor Council works with other civic groups on these measures and he stated that they are now ready to work with more of these organizations. In the future, the Labor Council has plans to set up a Scholarship Fund Program. Of great importance and interest to the attending members of organized labor was his announcement of progress towards a labor temple that appears to be a reality in the near future.

Dr. Hal Arthur Reede, Professor of Economics at Penn State University prefaced his talk with several gay and humorous stories in his own interesting style. Being extremely well informed on Union's internal affairs, he spoke on their attempts to remove the minority corrupted element within Labor Unions and the lack of the Federal Government's interest to pass legislation which could assist the AFL-CIO Ethical Practice Board in this work. While not mentioning the Kennedy-Ives bill by name, he referred to the legislation that was passed by the Senate last year 80 to 1 and that it was a bill that would definitely assist Labor in cleaning its own house. However, the bill was killed in the House because of powerful lobby groups who were not interested in helping the AFL-CIO Ethical Practice Board, but whose desire is to weaken the whole Union Labor Movement.

Dr. Reede related government figures proving that corruption in organized labor is no higher than corruption in other organizations or groups. He felt that it was a shameful thing to call honest labor leaders in front of the McCellen Committee despite their knowledge that these fine men possess excellent reputations and a high moral ethics. Disgraceful also was the fact that the McCellen committee is fully aware of serious abuses by management, but have called only a handful of these men to testify. Recognizing that where Sweetheart Contracts have been investigated, Dr. Reede remarked that where management bribes a Union Official, both parties are equally guilty, but in many of these cases, only the Union Official was called upon to testify.

Winding up this enjoyable evening at the Marcom Outing Club, door prizes of a portable

Jayvees' Revenge Win Highlighted By Barr's Shots

John Barr hit for 21 points and Ross Kremer netted 14 to lead their mates to a 45-34 victory over the Franklin Reserves in a prelude to the varsity clash last Friday night. The win avenged an earlier loss to the Knights and was especially pleasing to Coach Andy Randas and his boys.

Warren jumped off to a commanding 12-4 lead and maintained the edge throughout the entire contest. Barr displayed increasing accuracy with a one hand jump shot from the side while Kremer worked out of the pivot in nice style. The J.V.'s played without the services of "Sprinter" Redding, who is suffering from injured ribs.

Finland Is Dominating Winter Olympics Site

By LEI FERICKSON
SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Finland's small but potent team of skating, ski jumping and cross-country stars was favored today to build its already heavy domination in North American championships testing the 1960 winter Olympics site.

Juhani Jaervinen won a world record 1500 meter skating victory Sunday in 2 minutes 6.3 seconds and quickly followed that with a second place in the 10,000 meter round and a combined skating title.

Warren High school is still in the running in wrestling tournament competition as Gail Page and Max Claypool came through with wins against Section III in Franklin gym Saturday.

Winners of the Section II tournament Feb. 21, competed with Sec. III champs to determine entries to go against Section I winners in Memorial Junior High in Erie Saturday for the District X crown. Titusville High upset defending champs Warren Dragons for the Section title Feb. 21.

Jim Olson and Dean Lester, only other Dragon grapplers entered the competition Saturday, were defeated in their bid to enter the District battle this week.

In a novice tournament for schools in northwestern Pennsylvania in Erie Saturday, Mike Long and John Foster scored wins as Roger Colvin was decisive. Long (112) and 145-pound Wooster were awarded trophies for their victories. Colvin received a second place trophy. Colvin had a cradle on his opponent, who rolled over, putting "slug" in a pinning position. Colvin didn't realize he was in such a predicament until the referee slapped the mat.

Max Claypool decided Coach Carr of Pymatuning Coach Hal Miller was pleased with Claypool's fine showing since he moved to Warren from Slippery Rock just weeks ago. This is Claypool's first year out for the sport.

Ed Freshwater of Greenville led a decision to Page, 2-0. Freshwater was 9-4 for the year. The victory was Gail's 10th, including tournament action. Eight of the regular season wins were scored with four pins for the Dragon matmen.

Ralph Grady, one of the top boys from this section, pinned Dean Lester in first period. Grady's record for the season is 14 consecutive wins—with no losses. Lester had 9 bouts with 7 wins.

Tom Jefferies, dropping only 1 out of 10 meets, decided Jim Olson 5-0. Becoming a varsity regular nearly midway through the schedule, Olson chalked up a 5-1-1 state, including two first period pins.

Biggest bout of the evening was Fred Sikes, Greenville, winner over Chuck Samonsky of Oil City. The match ran into overtime. Samonsky nearly defeated Sikes before the overtime period.

Chuck Shaffer, Titusville took a very close bout from Commodore Perry's Harley Cook.

Statistical results:
88—Max Claypool (W) decided Carr (Pymatuning) 7-2.
95—Grady (P) pinned Dean Lester (W) first period.

Nat'l Champions Are Scheduled on The A.B.C. Lanes

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The national champion match-game Budweisers of St. Louis will take to the lanes in the American Bowling Congress Tournament tonight in an effort to overtake the pace-setting Pfeiffer beer team of Detroit.

Four other teams with averages above 1,000 will be rolling on the same squad.

The world-famous Budweisers, who have an average over 1,000, are headed by the great Don Carter. The shufflin' man is the first to bowl three consecutive 1900 series in ABC competition, hitting 1909 in 1951, 1952 in 1952 and 1953 in 1953.

Highlighting Sunday's action were a few changes in the minor events. Toe David and Tim Moran combined for 1215 in doubles and a second place bid, three pins shy of the leading tandem of Glenn and Bob Gersch of Chicago.

In the team events, the Hockstadler junior classic of Chicago rolled 2995 to pace the open division.

Wilson, Cashman Star in Thrilling Win for Dragons

"Tricky Dick" Wilson sank a pair of free throws with 65 seconds remaining on the clock to give Warren a hair raising, spine tingling 53-52 victory over visiting Franklin Friday night.

Cast into the hero role along with Wilson was Mike Cashman who fired a last quarter rally which enabled Dragons to overcome a 47-40 deficit and eke out the win. During Warren's last ditch rally, Cashman atoned for a poor first half performance by breaking loose for eight of the Dragon's 16 point total as they outscored Franklin 16 to 7.

An uninterrupted string of nine points early in the last stanza was ignited by Nick Creola. Creola, double teamed most of the night, sunk a foul, he came right back with a set to make the count 47-43 Franklin. Cashman converted a free toss to up the count at 47-44 as the Warren fans began to take heart.

"Big Mike" sent the crowd howling with a pretty side court jump to change the tally to 47-46. Seconds later the slender pivot was fouled and tied the game at 47 all.

Franklin meanwhile was having difficulty penetrating Warren's pressing man for man defense and as the tension mounted they began to make costly mistakes. Cashman sent Warren into the lead at 49-47 with another jump shot. Smith sank a set for Franklin's second basket of the quarter at the 2 minute mark to deadlock at 49-49. Wilson fouled Schosser and the big Franklin player responded by swishing both to return the lead to Franklin at 51-49.

Again Cashman came through with a jump shot to effect a tie at 51 all. Schosser on a driving lay-up was fouled by Brumagim and made the first to put his team ahead 52-51. With the stands in an uproar as the two teams raced into the closing seconds, Fred Harris—negro star of the Nurseryites—committed his fifth foul on Dick Wilson. Wilson calmly stepped to the free throw line and nestled the ball through the nets on both tries to close out the scoring in what was a thrilling and exciting finish to the 1958-59 basketball campaign.

Franklin loses only one man—Vait Thomas. They finished with a 17-6 mark and have high hopes of winning the section in '60.

The ordeal was prolonged for another 30 seconds as Warren called for time and set up a freezie to run the clock out. Their strategy backfired when Creola lost control of the ball and Cozad stole it. Creola fouled the little fellow and with five seconds left Franklin had a chance to tie or win. However Cozad wasn't equal to the occasion as he missed on the one and one and "Hugo" McKelvey leaped high in the air to grab

Titusville - Meadville Win; In Section Playoff Tuesday

A short trip on the playoff road was taken by Youngsville Eagles Friday night when they were halted from further gains along the path by Linesville High in a District X Class B PLAA playoff, 58-48.

The Eagles, however, are proud owner of Upper Allegheny Valley League's sparkling crown, losing only one contest. Linesville is top cage squad in Crawford County circuit.

East Forest captured UAVL Class O title, topping Spartansburg 54-33. The Foresters will go against Commodore Perry at Franklin tonight in opening of Class C playoffs. Leading all the way except in last quarter, the Marienville cagers' top scorers were Gettig and Mortimer with 14 each, Siebert with 12. Greer sank 14 for losers, Troyer 10.

Warren wound up league action tied with Franklin at 6-4 good for third place. Titusville and Meadville both finished league play deadlocked for the championship with 8-2 records. They will playoff for the toga Tuesday night on the neutral Grove City College floor. Overall, Warren compiled a respectable 15-6 mark. Oddly enough it was the same as last year.

In Friday's game, Franklin despite the loss of two players, Lynch and Fogie, jumped off to 28-20 halftime lead. At one stage of the game they held a 41-28 advantage. Their pressing 3-2 zone cut down on Warren's outside shots making it difficult for the Blue and White to score. However, the Dragons stuck with it and switched from a zone to a man for man defense and forced Franklin to make errors by their aggressive play. The defensive change plus more accuracy on inside shots was the tonic which enabled Warren to come from behind and conquer Franklin—the only team to defeat them twice this season.

Playing their last games for Warren were Nick Creola, Mike Cashman, Bill Brumagim, Mark Peterson, Craig Johnson, Jack Lobdell, Joe Massa, Bill Mervine, Dick Wilson, and Don McKelvey. Returning next season will be Doug Lind and Arch Hunter—both boys are expected to be the backbone of the 59-60 edition of the Dragons.

Gerarde Scores Another, Campagana TKOS First Puglist on Erie Fight Card

From the Corner

Had to change the column leading. With three local boys fighting now, it wouldn't be appropriate to say "From Gerarde's Corner". It did seem good to have local competition back in the boxing ring once again. Plans are under way to find a sponsor for a local card here very soon. Top names in amateur ranks from this section would be seen.

Promoter Don Elboam's father, Max, of hearing aid fame, was at the bell for Saturday's card. Don's been quite busy with both boxing and wrestling promotion. Sees a great deal of the Ohio cities and Baltimore now. Johnny Bizzaro, winning his fourth professional fight with a knockout Thursday, will be going after his fifth win in six starts Tuesday. He's expected to show in Toledo.

Amateur ranks haven't lost the Bizzaro name, however. Younger brother Paul, being in the fight game nearly a year now, has his moments with swinging leather, too. Johnny, who'll take marriage vows in October, keeps a close watch on his brother. Johnny sums up his fight future with: make the money and get out.

Joe Fazio and Mike Brady were in opposite corners Saturday. Joe handling Campagana and Brady taking care of Friedman. Lou Severo's mighty proud of the flyer-fighter he picked up recently to handle. However, plans are in the making to have Harrison turn pro due to his excellent knowledge of the game. Harrison's a pleasant puglist to watch.

Dave Brown, former heavyweight student of Severo, is married now and hasn't been in the ring in recent months. With Harrison now under Lou, the Meadville trainer said, "Fighters come and go, but managers stay on and on."

Russ Verga, of the PALS and Erie City police force, wasn't around to be in the Erie boys' corner. He just dropped in off the street long enough to greet us—and give important pointers to the locals.

Don tells us 1200 fans were in Gannon Auditorium to witness the card. And we happily add, a great deal of them were Warren followers. Is pleasing, both to the fighters and manager, to see so much loyal support. A little hometown cheering means so much to the boys.

Have a boy or know of one who'd like to enter the ring? Have him drop around the YMCA—deserving a big thank-you for their help and cooperation with Gerarde, Campagana, Henninger and Fazio—and see Fazio.

WARRENTS ENJOY PIRATES, FLORIDA

Word comes from Miami Beach that Carl Valava of Buss Restaurant, Ed Lindberg and Chet Berardi are enjoying their vacation in the warm Florida sunshine. The three visited at Pittsburgh Pirate camp with Frank Files of WNAE. Frank, who returned last week, secured nearly 40 tape recordings of exclusive WNAE interviews with players and top brass of the Buc club. The three visiting Warren men expected to spend 10 days in the southern climate.

PIRATES LOOK GOOD FOR MYERS, FLA. (AP)

Regular members of the Pittsburgh Pirate pitching staff looked pretty good in an intra-squad game Sunday.

Particularly impressive were Ronnie Kline, Bob Friend, George Witt, Don Gross and Bob Porterfield. Each yielded only one hit in two-inning stints. Only Kline was scored on and that was unearned. Rocky Nelson, the 35-year-old draftee trying out for the first base job, found other Pirate hurlers to his liking, picking up four outs in four trips to the plate.

Warren boxing roster increased by two fighters Saturday evening as the local slugger returned to the squared circle after a long absence from area action.

Another victory was scored by Tom Gerarde when he won in 2:44 of first round over Rochester's James Lecher. Joe Campagana won his first go in amateur ranks over Connie Friedman of Erie. Carl Henninger, third Warren puglist, lost his bout, also his first in amateur boxing action, to a more experienced Larry Young from the Gem City.

Fans will recall Gerarde's last fight, on Memorial Field last July 4, when he fought a "non-conditioned" Buffalo boy for an easy win. He had been scheduled twice after that, however, once in Wilcox which rain postponed, and another time in Erie last fall when his opponent failed to show.

Tom's victory Saturday was his 10th in 11 starts, losing only to New Castle's Primo Amalone in Gannon Auditorium last April.

Twice before referee Johnny Seaman stopped the bout Saturday, Gerarde put Lecher on the canvas.

Joe Campagana, eyeing a boxing career, looked sharp as he took Friedman in 50 seconds of third round. Joe has done some exhibition fights in the local YMCA two years ago, but refrained from action for a short period before entering strict training for amateur ranks.

Henninger, fighting the curtain raiser, had the first round but was tired when he answered the bell for second round. Young, it was reported, has been fighting for over four years. This was Carl's first go inside a ring. The bout was halted at 1:10 of second period.

After the 10-bout card in the locked room, Lecher complained of a paralyzed left leg after Gerarde's "sledgehammer body blows," as the Rochester battler put it. Unable to raise his arms after the body bombing, Lecher dropped the fight to the 1958 Golden Glove champion Gerarde. It was said that Lecher is the Rochester lightweight champion.

In other bouts, Paul Bizzaro defeated Jim Boomhouser of Ashtabula, much to the booming disapproval of the fans. Don Wild and Pedro Quinones fought a thriller in middleweight division, Wild winning via decision. Erie's Willie McCoy, also a star football player for McDowell High, lost to R. C. Gifford of Painesville; Chet Moffett, K.O'd Jerry Kocan of Sharon in 25 of second; Dean Harrison, Air Force champion, also won by KO over Henry Reeves, Rochester, in 1:47 of first period. Reeves is handled by Lou Severo, former trainer of Dave Brown.

Larry Bortnick won by decision over Bernie Stein, Pittsburgh. Stein won a Golden Glove title in Pittsburgh the same evening as did Gerarde February, 1958. Frank Smith K.O'd Erie's Jim Berdis in 2:32 of second period.

Results:
Larry Young, Erie, TKO over Carl Henninger, Warren—120.
John Campagana, Warren, TKO Connie Friedman, Erie—130.
Paul Bizzaro, Erie, decided Jim Boomhouser, Ashtabula—135.

Records Prove Jockey, Cager Among Decade's Top Athlete

WILLIE SHOEMAKER

BOB PETTIT

Two of the greatest young athletes of this decade are a jockey and a basketball player. This is more than an opinion; figures prove it.

Race rider is Willie Shoemaker, 27. Man in the sneakers is Bob Pettit, 26.

Shoemaker refused to discuss his goals. But with 1959 still in its infancy it's plain to see the shoe hopes to lead the little saddlemen once again. He has been top man an unprecedented four times, including 1950 when he and Joe Cushman tied.

In seven of his 10 years as a jockey, the native Texas has seen the inner's circle 300 or more times. Last year he led the riders three years running. Shoe is low fourth in American riding history and by the end of 1960 figures to have passed third place Ted Atkinson.

At this season's three-quarter mark (54 games) he had 1,559 points for a 28.9 game average. He's a cinch to break George Yardley's 2,001-point mark made last season. The 215-pound Pettit is now in his fifth season in NBA.

Pettit, a former basketball standout at Louisiana State University, began the season ranking 18th in NBA scoring annals. When the season ends this spring he should be around 12th place.

One of the 6-foot-9 Pettit's best night's came in the final championship playoff game last spring when St. Louis Hawks beat Boston Celtics. Prolific Pettit netted 50 points. This season he had another 50-point night but his top effort came in a January game against Boston. He scored 52 markers.

Coach Clyde "Sam" Loomis made arrangements for the North Warren quintet to be guest of the Titusville squad. More away games are in the planning.

North Warren sputted into a 15-7 intermission bulge, followed by a blazing 10-2 output in third quarter to comfortably stay in the lead.

Larry Loomis was high man under the basket for the winners, meaning 14. Other North Warren players scoring were: Rogers 5, Port and Nelson each sank 4, 2 apiece for Mintzer and Gray. Bush was high for Titusville with 7, 4 for Carlson and Lungren, 2 for Phillips.

A tired, but happy squad, returned home to their local YMCA to oppose East Street five in a Gray-Y League game. East Street scored the victory, 14-12.

North Warren led throughout, first half, 6-4 at the half, but were deadlocked with East 8-8 going into final canto. A 2-point surge in final period iced the win for East street.

Messing for winners were Albaugh with 6, Rudolph had 4, Suintner 2, and Smith and White each sank 1 point. Larry Loomis again sparked the North Warren cagers with 8 points for .667 per cent of the total figure. Andersen and Mintzer each collected 2.

Irvine Riflemen Take Tighter Hole on First

The Irvine Rod & Gun Club's Rifle Team tightened their hold on first place in the Warren-McKean Rifle League by virtue of a victory over the Kane Rifle Club in a low scoring match fired on the Warren Armory Range Saturday evening.

Both teams had difficulty in posting good scores in the contest with the match being decided on the last shot fired for the evening. Don Christensen and Bob Newman were the top triggermen for the Irvine Team by firing scores of 192. Dale Howard was high gun for Kane with his 191.

Men's Wear Dealers Trying To Boost the "Continental"

By WALTER BREEDER JR.
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Men's wear retailers with an eye out for something new that will induce the hardy male to part with a few bucks are pinning their hopes on the "Continental."

Styled in sunny Italy, the continental suit is popping up in a few selected men's apparel shops this spring, vying for attention with the still popular Ivy.

Men, among the most conservative of this earth's creatures, are looking and comparing but they aren't buying yet. At least, not many are buying.

Retailers hope the fad will start to catch on next fall.

"If this thing works out, you'll see a rash of buying by October," says one. "By the spring of 1960 we'll be well into a fashion craze that should sweep the nation."

Leslie F. Vail, president of a men's apparel chain, sees a great future for the Continental suit among rising executives who he says have literally and figuratively outgrown Ivy.

In case you haven't seen one, the jacket is one to one-and-a-half inches shorter than that of the Ivy or conventional "American lounge." It has squared shoulders, narrow, peaked lapels, pockets that slant backwards, and a cutaway front. The most popular style has two front buttons and side vents.

Unlike the straight hanging Ivy or the bulky American lounge, the Continental follows the contours of the body — and the contours are those usually associated with business success, plenty of nourishing food and drink, not too much physical exercise, and middle age.

The jacket's lower half artfully conceals any incipient bay window. From that point down, the front is cut back sharply. The over-all effect is one of worldly sophistication and youthful slimsness. Pants are pleated, tapered and without cuffs.

Quick quip. Dan Frohman, the veteran producer, once consented to listen to a young stage-struck girl sing. After she had finished she asked Frohman: "What do you think I should do now?" Frohman replied: "Get married!"

Do you ever wonder how your wife spends her time? A survey by the Bon Ami Institute disclosed wives devote 23 per cent of their working day to preparing meals, 13 per cent to dishwashing.

The ordinary U.S. family now uses 888 cans of food a year. What is home without a can opener?

Nature note: A wild elk lives to be about 10 years old, a zoo elk to 25. And a lodge elk, if he does not graze too long at the bar, to 70 or more.

Few Surprises

month marathon and forced Leader to accept the 3 per cent sales tax.

Lawrence pleaded that "time is of the essence" in calling for enactment of the tax program by April 1.

"Each day's delay beyond that will cost the state $367,000, as expensive a 24 hours as any of us are likely to experience," he emphasized.

The budget message encompassed only general state expenditures.

The governor told newsmen he would submit by the end of the month separate budgets for the highway fund, financed entirely by gasoline taxes and motor license fees; the fish and game funds, whose revenue comes from sportsmen's license fees; and a Korean bonus fund.

A proposed 150-million-dollar Korean bonus would be financed by increasing the five-cents-a-pack cigarette tax to six cents.

These added spending programs would send the Commonwealth's over-all budget to close to 2½-billion-dollar mark for the two years starting June 1.

Most of the new money is intended to offset a record deficit of $177,678,874 for the current two-year fiscal period ending next May 31 and enough money to prevent recurrence of the big splash of red ink in the next two years.

Nearly 84 million dollars of the additional taxes, he said, are needed to finance programs ordered expanded by existing law. In this category is 51 million in increased state aid for schools.

It leaves $148,831,383 for other spending—and it is in this area the Legislature will be limited in its cuts.

The biggest single boost included in that figure is 54½ million dollars for the Public Welfare Department. It would get 24 millions more for mental health, 12½ millions more for relief, $3,707,000 for the state's 10 general hospitals and $4,600,000 for Philadelphia General Hospital for indigent patients.

He proposed increasing the state police force from 1,900 men to 2,100 in the next two years and boosting the daily subsistence allowance from $2.75 to $3.75 per man at an increased cost of nearly five million dollars.

State-aided universities, medical schools and other educational institutions would get an added $9,700,000—15 per cent more than they now get. Carnegie Museum, Pittsburgh, and Drexel Institute and Philadelphia Academy of Natural Science would be listed for Commonwealth subsidies for the first time.

Most of the budget cuts are in the field of education. They include $260,000 from the special program for educating handicapped children, $23,000 for school milk and lunch projects and $37,000 from curriculum development.

But education continued to represent the big chunk in the Commonwealth's spending pie. It totals $885,246,300 or 46.42 per cent of the $1,907,012,334 general fund budget. He said all of the estimated 179 million dollars in revenue from the sales tax should be specifically earmarked for education.

Health and welfare spending would total 479 millions or 25.13 per cent.

Way down the list is general government, including items like salaries and expenses—$55,688,000 or 4.49 per cent of the budget.

The biggest percentage increase to a single department went to Commerce whose 1957-58 appropriation of $9,513,000 would be more than double to $22,676,657.

A brand new expenditure of $1,329,158 was recommended for flood control. No appropriation was made for this by the 1957 Legislature on the basis that money had been still available from 1955 grant.

The flood control money would be spent for maintenance and operation of the Harrisburg flood control headquarters, the Stroudsburg district office, the George B. Stevenson Dam on Sinnemahoning Creek and operation and maintenance of flood forecasting warning systems.

The governor also recommended that the ceiling on state-aided school construction be increased from $25 millions to $1,150,000,000.

In addition, the governor proposed ending the $200 a year subsidy for closing one-room schools after a school district has received $1,000.

If a district already has received $1,000 for this, the payments would end immediately. If not, they would continue until the $1,000 figure is reached. Lawrence estimated 2½ million dollars could be saved in the next two years by this plan.

budget for the General Fund of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. In reality, it is a budget for everyone of the state's 2,350 school districts.

"We will pay more than 40 per cent of all the public school costs in this state on the basis of the appropriations in this budget."

"I suggest further that the recipients of state aid join with us in a program of public information, so that all the people of Pennsylvania will know, as we do, how much of their state tax obligations comes back to them in their public schools, their colleges, their universities."

"I have done my best to make this an honest budget, honestly arrived at. It now becomes a matter for your judgment and your action. May I hope they will be prompt."

lin, saying it could not accept the Soviets' unilateral ending of the World War II occupation.

Khrushchev in his speech last week also stuck to the long-standing Soviet position on German reunification, that it must be negotiated by the two German governments and not by the Big Four, West Germany, with full Allied backing, refuses to recognize the East German regime to the extent of holding political negotiations with it.

Macmillan told Soviet leaders in Leningrad Sunday night that his talks with Khrushchev, while yielding no immediate results, "will be of great assistance in the international discussions which must lie ahead."

"I say that these discussions must lie ahead because I firmly believe that the dangerous situation with which we may be faced cannot be resolved without negotiations," Macmillan declared.

A foreign ambassador in Moscow said Khrushchev had told him he is not pessimistic about the talks with Macmillan. But he said the Soviet premier still insists there must be a peace treaty with both East and West Germany and liquidation of the Western occupation of West Berlin.

Washington

lin. Apprehension that this might not be possible in the long run was felt here last week after Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in a speech rejected the Western proposal for a foreign ministers session to deal with reunification as well as all other German issues.

It was noted then, however, that while Khrushchev clearly preferred a summit conference, he stopped short of saying he would not send Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko to any lower level meeting.

One possibility, foreseen here for some time, was that in order to minimize the danger of war on East German questions, the Western powers would have to accept at least the principle of following a foreign ministers meeting with a conference of government heads.

The United States first will have to determine its own position, then consult in detail with Britain, France and West Germany and finally seek the opinion and approval of the rest of the NATO allies.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has made no secret of his desire for a summit conference. But French Premier Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer have taken a much tougher line and have shown much less interest in "going to the summit" unless there was advance softening of Khrushchev's position.

"Ruler" of Yale Athletics Dies of Heart Attack

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's sports fans today mourned Albert (Albie) Booth—the man who emulated heroic fiction with his athletic feats at Yale.

The former football star, who was 51, died of a heart attack early Sunday morning after attending a Broadway play with his wife.

Booth was the second Yale football great to die within two weeks. Bruce Caldwell, who preceded Booth at the New Haven, Conn., school, died Feb. 15 after a long illness. He was 53.

Booth was still a well known figure to football fans. He was one of the country's top football officials and officiated at such classics as the Army-Navy game.

Booth ruled the athletic scene at Yale from 1929-31. He played football, basketball and baseball, winning eight varsity letters and enshrining himself as the greatest of Yale's athletes.

Seeds of Friendship Bloom Around The World

Formal English garden, equal in beauty to that of many a great estate, was planted in London to set off a prefabricated house owned by a printer. Garden was made possible by gift flower seeds donated through the Seeds of Friendship program of the All-America Friendship League.

American Friendship Gardens by the thousands are now growing around the world, as far north as Finland and as far south as Liberia, as the result of a war-time gesture of goodwill that has flowered into a positive program for peace.

This year the All-America Friendship League's Seeds of Friendship Collection for Overseas is seeking one million packets of vegetable and flower seeds for spring planting.

Regular shipments of seed packets will be continued to Britain, France, Western Germany and Italy and special shipments are scheduled for Mexico and Japan.

Seed packets are being contributed by schools, churches, civic and service groups, garden clubs, youth groups and individuals. They will be distributed to such institutions as children's homes, hospitals, schools, and low-income residential developments under the supervision of local agricultural and educational committees.

Children are key contributors to the Seeds of Friendship Collection under sponsorship of school garden programs, local newspapers, and such organizations as the Girl Scouts of America.

The youngsters find particular pleasure and valuable education in sending seed packets to the Collection, sowing the same seed varieties in their own gardens, and comparing notes with the children abroad as the flowers and vegetables grow, according to the National Garden Bureau.

Mrs. Edmund H. Cahill, executive chairman of the All-America Friendship League, points out that vegetable seed is easier and less expensive to ship great distances than matured produce. Also, produce from the seed increases year by year to multiply the potential benefits, where some matured produce is lost in transit through spoilage.

The flowers grown from gift seeds help bring beauty to relieve the spiritual desolation of underprivileged areas, she adds.

The first shipment of seeds overseas was made after World War II ended. It consisted of 100,000 packets of vegetable and flower seeds to help replant bombed-out school gardens in Great Britain. Among the very first contributors to the program were Mrs. D. W. Eisenhower, mother of the President; Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt; and Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey.

In 1942, the first Friendship School Garden was planted in Mexico. With the assistance of government agencies, local groups and such organizations as the YMCA and YWCA, the number of school gardens now thriving in that country has risen to 1,000.

In Japan, the Ministry of Agriculture and the U.S. Army supervised a seed distribution program which produced over 1,000 letters of thanks from school children and others.

A typical letter was that written to the League by Tsutomu Tagawa, mayor of Nagasaki, who said in part: "As a token of warm friendship between America and Japan, the seeds were distributed for cultivation among 32 schools and churches. Five welfare institutions and women's associations in this city. A portion was also given to the city nursery farm and some 43 earnest farmers in the city so they might get new seeds and distribute them among citizens at large to cultivate and make their town a big flower garden of friendship. Be assured that the seeds bear special meaning to this city which aims at reconstructing itself as an international cultural center."

Groups or individuals who want to enjoy making a personal contribution to the welfare of people throughout the world should send packets of annual flower and vegetable seed to Friendship Headquarters, 118 West 57 Street, New York 19, N. Y.

SAFE DRIVING TIP
Rush hour driving requires extra patience as well as skill.

Rush hour crowds, boarding and unloading, force bus drivers to use leapfrog tactics in many cities. Resulting turnouts, says the Chicago Motor Club, cause jams among passenger car traffic moving in the center lanes.

The motorist faced with a quick decision either may yield gracefully to the bus or crowd into the next lane and attempt to maintain his pace. This crowding could cause an accident. Good drivers avoid taking advantage of other motorists.

Matter of FACT
U.S. ATLANTIC MEX. HONDURAS PACIFIC S.A. (AP)

On his last voyage to the New World, in 1502, Columbus discovered Honduras and claimed it for the king of Spain. Off the north coast, Columbus could not find a place shallow enough for his ship's anchor to hit bottom. He therefore called these waters the Gulf of Honduras, using the Spanish word for "depths." Soon the name encompassed the land itself.

Seeds of Friendship Bloom Around The World

Formal English garden, equal in beauty to that of many a great estate, was planted in London to set off a prefabricated house owned by a printer. Garden was made possible by gift flower seeds donated through the Seeds of Friendship program of the All-America Friendship League.

American Friendship Gardens by the thousands are now growing around the world, as far north as Finland and as far south as Liberia, as the result of a war-time gesture of goodwill that has flowered into a positive program for peace.

This year the All-America Friendship League's Seeds of Friendship Collection for Overseas is seeking one million packets of vegetable and flower seeds for spring planting.

Regular shipments of seed packets will be continued to Britain, France, Western Germany and Italy and special shipments are scheduled for Mexico and Japan.

Seed packets are being contributed by schools, churches, civic and service groups, garden clubs, youth groups and individuals. They will be distributed to such institutions as children's homes, hospitals, schools, and low-income residential developments under the supervision of local agricultural and educational committees.

Children are key contributors to the Seeds of Friendship Collection under sponsorship of school garden programs, local newspapers, and such organizations as the Girl Scouts of America.

The youngsters find particular pleasure and valuable education in sending seed packets to the Collection, sowing the same seed varieties in their own gardens, and comparing notes with the children abroad as the flowers and vegetables grow, according to the National Garden Bureau.

Mrs. Edmund H. Cahill, executive chairman of the All-America Friendship League, points out that vegetable seed is easier and less expensive to ship great distances than matured produce. Also, produce from the seed increases year by year to multiply the potential benefits, where some matured produce is lost in transit through spoilage.

The flowers grown from gift seeds help bring beauty to relieve the spiritual desolation of underprivileged areas, she adds.

The first shipment of seeds overseas was made after World War II ended. It consisted of 100,000 packets of vegetable and flower seeds to help replant bombed-out school gardens in Great Britain. Among the very first contributors to the program were Mrs. D. W. Eisenhower, mother of the President; Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt; and Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey.

BOONE FOR STAGE AND TV—From television frontier gunman to The Great Emancipator in the transition made by actor Richard Boone. Broadway hails his portrayal of Lincoln in new play, "The Rivals," while television audiences continue to give high rating to his Paladins in "Have Gun, Will Travel." Photo at left shows Boone in his Paladin role—moustached, sideburned and sinister. Center is Boone as he interprets Lincoln at the time of his debates with Douglas. Additional comparison is photo of beardless Lincoln, right.

MODERN POST OFFICE FOR PROVIDENCE—Sketch depicts the nation's first fully mechanized mail-processing plant and post office. It will be built in Providence, R.I. The 20-million-dollar plant will be serviced by rail and a heliport, right. It's scheduled for completion by September, 1960.

Moscow any proposals that went further than that.

Khrushchev during a recess in his conversations with Macmillan—made a farce of the talks by delivering in a manner that seemed completely contemptuous of the prime minister, a speech on the very subject they were discussing.

He warned that Western efforts to push military supplies through to West Berlin after May 27 could mean war. He mocked the idea of a foreign ministers meeting; and said only the heads of government have sufficient power to negotiate on the German problem.

Then Sunday, just before Macmillan set out for home, British sources said he was coming back determined to urge the United States and France into a summit meeting with Khrushchev. Macmillan long has favored such a meeting, but the official Allied hand has been for adequate advance preparation.

So Khrushchev moved one step closer to what he has wanted all along—a meeting with Eisenhower.

Senecas Have a New Chief To Act as Their Delegate

By JOHN KOENIG, JR.
Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Seneca Indians—residents of New York State but very important in Pennsylvania affairs in Washington—have a new chief to act as their delegate here.

He is 39-year-old George D. Heron who has taken over for ex-chief Cornelius V. Seneca, whose term expired.

Like his predecessor, Heron, brown-skinned, hawk-visaged and bright-eyed, is a structural steel worker.

He has lost no time in attacking the governmental structure built by Pennsylvania members of Congress to save the way for a $113-million dollar dam at Kinzua, Pa.

Heron has been spending time in Washington contacting numerous Pennsylvania and western New York congressmen to discuss the Indians' dam.

The proposed are wholeheartedly opposed to construction of the dam. It would inundate a large portion of their reservation.

Having been turned down in three lower courts, the Senecas now are preparing to go to the Supreme Court with their case.

Heron disagrees with statements by proponents of the dam that only a handful of Indians live in the portion of the reservation that would be inundated. He said about three-fourths of the 3,800 tribal members live in that section.

He said that in addition to further court action, his plan is to meet Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) have Sen. Arthur E. Morgan.

Morgan, 82-year-old former head of the Tennessee Valley Authority, is a consultant to the Senecas and a backer of a plan to divert flood waters of the Allegheny River into Lake Erie rather than build the Lake Kinzua Dam.

Heron, who played football for Salamanca, N. Y., High School and a World War II Navy veteran, said the Senecas never will lose their attachment to their land.

He said they still delight in receiving each year the three yards of cloth distributed to each tribal member by the U. S. government. The tribe has been receiving the cloth since the government's treaty with the Senecas in 1794.

Asked how his family name originated, he told this anecdote:

Years ago, an Indian father looking out the window at the time his wife presented him with a baby, would look for a passing animal or bird.

"The baby would then be named after whatever creature the father saw first," said Heron. "I believe they still do that out in the west."

Heron isn't certain whether an Indian ancestor of his happened to see a heron outside the window. He said the name might stem from the fact that he has some New York Dutch and Irish in him.

SAVED FROM DROWNING

Patricia Blood, 4, of Frewsburg, N. Y., was saved from drowning by her father Saturday night after tumbling into muddy Muddy Creek near Fentonville. The child had been playing with other children, including her brother Carl, 11, when she fell from a retaining wall where the creek intersects Route 62. The brother notified the father, Vernon Blood, who raced to the scene and, fully clothed, found his daughter on the creek bottom. The girl was revived by Joseph Saeh, volunteer fireman who happened near the area, after 15 minutes of artificial respiration. Patricia is in fairly good condition in a Jamestown hospital.

ENTERS POLITICAL RACE

Area Republicans will note with interest the announced candidacy of Mrs. William H. Haupt, president of the Venango County Republican Women's Club, who will enter the political race for the office of county treasurer in the May 19 primaries. Mrs. Haupt, a GOP candidate, resides in Plumer, widow of W. H. Haupt and has long been active in political affairs. Only recently she chaired the successful Lincoln Day dinner in Oil City, which was attended by several Warren Republicans.

LIQUOR LICENSE REFUNDS

Harrisburg reports indicate that nine Erie, Crawford and Warren county municipalities are scheduled to receive a total of $3500 in liquor and beer license refunds from the State Liquor Control Board. Warren township, $150.

MONTH'S PERSONALITY

J. Gordon Clark, vice president of Seneca Lands District SPEESQSA, past chapter president and past area counselor, has been named Personality of the Month in the recent edition of "Conewango Clippings".

Journey (so named because he at one time sold the Ladies Home Journal) was born in Centerville, later moved to Conover, and then to Warren. Now a partner in a Youngsville automobile agency, Clark is a charter member of the Warren barbershoppers and one of its most active and enthusiastic members.

BROWN GLEE CLUB

Warren Chapter SPEESQSA will sponsor the Brown University Glee Club's appearance in Beatty auditorium April 2. The group will possibly make it a joint concert though plans remain indefinite. Proceeds will augment funds for a proposed trip to Chicago. Several quartets and the chorus will also participate in the annual Youngsville Kiwanis Club show Saturday, March 21 at 8:00 p. m.

Oddities in the News

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Mamie Eisenhower is eager to return home, but she'll stay in Phoenix another week.

The President's wife admitted to newsmen Sunday she was getting a bit homesick when she left Valley Presbyterian church in nearby Scottsdale.

FITCHBURG, Mass. (AP)—James R. Snopley Jr., 37, was due in District Court today on a charge of cultivating and growing marijuana in a window box in his apartment.

Police Sgt. Warren Wade quoted Snopley as saying he tried smoking the plant in his pipe but all he got out of it was a sore throat.

SIX weeks ago the Town Council appointed a four-man committee to study means of improving the mechanics of municipal government.

The committee has not yet held any meetings. Chairman Alexander J. McKenzie said the four never seem to be in the same place at the same time.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Those guys who are smiling are Traffic Court veterans who just heard this news:

Superior Court Judge Roger A. Pfaff was ticked this weekend by two police officers, who said he went by their patrol car at 45 m.p.h. while they were cruising at the legal 25 m.p.h.

Before he was elevated to Superior Court in 1955, Judge Pfaff was a traffic judge who instituted jail sentences as part of a crackdown on speeders.

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—The condition of Gen. George C. Marshall was reported unchanged today. He has been in serious condition at Womack Army Hospital since suffering a stroke Jan. 15.

Local Schools Participating In Bundle Day Clothes Drive

Most Americans are shocked to learn that many children in southern Appalachian Mountain States cannot attend school regularly in winter because they do not have adequate clothing and shoes.

To provide clothing for children and their families in underprivileged areas of America as well as to victims of disaster both at home and overseas, students of Warren schools will collect clothing during the week of March 16-20 in the 17th annual Bundle Day clothing collection sponsored by Save the Children Federation, in schools across the nation.

Warren school principals are sponsoring the local collection. Parents, neighbors and friends are urged to donate good, used summer or winter clothing for children, babies and adults.

Clothing may be brought or sent to the schools in bags or cartons. Low-priced shoes and over-shoes are especially requested. Also needed are serviceable coats, dresses, pants, socks, shirts, sweaters, skirts, caps, handkerchiefs, sheets and baby clothes.

This year, conditions in the southern mountains mention above are especially acute due to unemployment and floods.

Donated clothing is sent to such regions where it is made available through SCF clothing centers, at very low prices. This enables a poor but proud people to maintain their self-respect.

SCF said. Additional clothing is distributed without charge, through County Welfare and Attendance Officers to those who cannot afford to pay.
